

Woolworth Contractors Busy at Randall Store, Local Labor Benefits

General Contractor George D. Campbell, Poughkeepsie, Plans to Use Local Labor; Carl Miller Gets Electrical Contract.

STRICTLY MODERN

Stores Will be Ready for Use Toward End of October; Force to be Doubled.

Carpenters were busy this morning on interior alterations at the former Randall store building, recently purchased from Herbert Carl Estate by the F. W. Woolworth Co. The building adjoins the present Woolworth store on Wall street and when changes and improvements are completed will be occupied by Woolworth in conjunction with the existing store. The new store will utilize the ground floors and basements of the two buildings, giving the firm one of the largest stores in this section.

George D. Campbell, Poughkeepsie contractor, who for some years has done most of the work of this kind for the Woolworth Co. in this area and northern New York, has the general contract. Mr. Campbell told a Freeman reporter this morning that the contract will represent an expenditure of around $10,000 and that so far as possible he purposed to employ local labor.

He has sublet the heating and plumbing contract to Strain & Sutton of Poughkeepsie, who are familiar with the requirements of his work and who, it was stated, will again sublet the contract to a Kingston firm. The electrical work has been sublet to Carl Miller & Son of Kingston.

A feature of the new store will be a modernly equipped 16-stool lunch counter which will be supplied by an up-to-date kitchen to be built in the basement. The kitchen will be air-conditioned and equipped with the latest facilities, including the new ideas in ventilation. The remainder of the basement and the basement of the present store building will be utilized for storage of merchandise, the two being connected by archways.

The newly acquired store will be furnished with the latest in store equipment, lighting, etc. Two 10-foot archways will connect it with the present store.

It is expected that the work of alteration and equipment now under way will be completed and the combined stores ready for business about the last week in October, possibly before that time. The expansion of business will probably necessitate a doubling of the present force. The present lines of merchandise will be carried but there will be opportunity to handle a much wider and more complete variety of goods in the various departments. Articles up to 95c in value will be carried.

According to a statement made this morning no plans have been announced for the use of the second and third floors of the new building.

The Woolworth Co. in addition to the building now being adapted to their use, recently purchased the former Van Wagenen store building adjoining, with a right of way through to Crown street, which is at present under lease to Sears Roebuck & Co.

Driving Course at Saugerties School

Saugerties, Sept. 24.—A new Pontiac sedan has arrived in town for use in the Saugerties High School for the new safety driving course, which will be under the direction of Nelson A. Watson, a member of the faculty.

The car will remain the property of the Pontiac Motor Co., and will be loaned and insured by them and the local school is one of the first schools in New York state to offer such a course.

Lecture Course By Schoolwomen's Club Starts Oct. 7

Beginning Wednesday, October 7, a course of lectures will be given in the Kingston High School auditorium. Plans have just been completed whereby five of the most brilliant speakers on the American platform will be offered here under a nation-wide program offered by The Cooperators of America and sponsored locally by the Kingston Schoolwomen's Club.

The speakers will include Joseph Israel, Upton Close, William Rose Benet, Clayton Hamilton and Com. George Noville.

One of the outstanding men on the program will be Upton Close, one of the leading American authorities on the Far East. Upton Close has lived in China half of his life. Going there as a journalist, he was involved in China's wars for national liberty and, in the government of General Wu Pei-fu was for a while secretary of foreign affairs for China. Having also lived for long periods in Japan and India, and having travelled extensively in Manchuria, India, Siberia, Russia, Mr. Close has an intimate acquaintance with Pacific Asia that is equalled by few. He sees Asia as the great ground of contention of the future with the United States being faced with the alternative of abandoning its markets there or having to fight for them. Mr. Close, however, will not talk merely about such Asiatic affairs as he will be in the news. Over radio station WOR and associated stations he has vigorously hit at today's state of affairs in his program "World Parade". It is of the day's world parade that Mr. Close will speak.

DR. GIFFORD RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT, THIRD BRANCH

Dr. Bertram W. Gifford of Saugerties was re-elected president of the Third District Medical Society on Tuesday at the Ten Eyck Hotel in Albany. Also re-elected were Dr. William M. Rapp, Catskill, secretary, and Dr. Ernest E. Billings, Kingston, treasurer. New officers elected were Dr. Lydie Honeyford, Catskill, first vice-president, and Dr. Arthur M. Dickinson, Albany, second vice-president.

Violence in Theme

Nanking, Sept. 24 (AP)—The more Japan insists on suppression of anti-Japanese in China, the more incidents of violence against Japanese are liable to occur, a Chinese Nationalist government spokesman declared today. He said the National government is seeking to cooperate with the Japanese in attempting to clarify incidents arising from attacks on Japanese Nationals. Other Chinese circles were openly fearful of fresh incidents in North China "where the Japanese are prepared to act." All Chinese officialdom agreed the situation had reached the gravest crisis.

Bocca Displays Slight Gain Today

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Twelve-year-old Albert Bocca, critically ill of hemophilia and fighting to overcome the disease with the aid of a chemical compound developed after 18 years research, was "slightly improved" today at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Dr. J. C. Platt gave Albert the new treatment Tuesday night. He had improved steadily since, but immediately was not yet out of danger. The lad was taking nourishment and attacks said he was "wonderful."

Across the city in the Parkview pavilion of the Medical Center, Alfonso Bocca, of Coradonna and his wife, had been to the Spanish throne, the son of the same family. He was reported improved after receiving his 12th blood transfusion.

County Fair On Friday At New State Armory; Great Variety of Exhibits

Annual Fair Opens at 10 a. m.; Amateur Show at Night; Blue Ribbon Winners at the State Fair to Show.

CODY ON DISPLAY

One of the Most Interesting Exhibits Will Be Those of Ten County Granges.

The annual Ulster County Fair will open Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the new state armory on Manor avenue, and promises to be one of the most successful fairs ever held in the county. Among the exhibits to be shown will be those of 10 county granges, including the Highland Grange and the Highland Juvenile Grange which took blue ribbons at the state fair at Syracuse. The state will also have one of the exhibits shown at the state fair at the county fair. The amateur show will be staged Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

One of the exhibits at the county fair that will interest horse lovers of Ulster county is "Cody" the last horse left of the local artillery. The secretary of the county fair requested Sergeant John Roosa to have Cody present at the fair. Cody is the undefeated champion walking horse, having won this honor at Madison Square Garden by defeating a field of 18 horses, including the great Caribou, owned and ridden by Miss Estelle Manville. Cody not only proved himself a great horse in the ring but covered a distance of six miles in one hour and fifteen minutes at a walk, a feat which seems impossible. Cody is now owned by Sergeant Roosa and is retired in pasture at the A. H. Chambers Maple Lane Farm.

The local WPA will also have an exhibit of food and clothing similar to that distributed daily to needy families in Kingston from the commissary in the former water board barn, adjoining the city hall. The exhibit is being arranged by Sam N. Mann in charge of the food and clothing bureau in Kingston. This exhibit should prove of interest to every resident of the city.

The Bureau of Food Control of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets will also have exhibited the same exhibit that was displayed at the state fair at Syracuse this summer.

One of the most interesting exhibits will be those of the ten county granges, which have each been assigned a booth at the fair and will display the products for which each particular Grange is famous in Ulster county. Especially interesting should be the exhibit of the Highland Grange and the Highland Juvenile Grange, which will be the same as the ones exhibited at the state fair when the exhibits were awarded blue ribbons.

Among the commercial exhibits will be those displayed by Everett & Treadwell, the Binnwater Ice Company, The Modern Home Supply, the Eastern Estate Insurance Company, Wesley Gregory, the Roosevelt Park Development, the W. C. T. U., and others.

The home department exhibits this year will be shown in the officers' lounge just off the main entrance to the armory. This exhibit will prove of great interest to every housewife.

The horse department will be in charge of A. H. Chambers of Kingston and will include both saddle and driving as well as draft horses.

Breeds of cattle that are most popular in the county will be shown. This exhibit is in charge of Dr. H. F. Fleming of Gardiner.

The poultry exhibit will be in charge of A. P. Kaplan of Accord. The vegetable will be in charge of Albert Kurdt, Farm Bureau manager, and the fruit department will be in charge of Cyril G. Small, assistant farm bureau agent.

Everett Parsons, home bureau agent, will have charge of the home department.

The 4-H Clubs of the county will also have fine exhibits at the fair.

Red Squads Hurl Dynamite Bundles at Alcazar Rebels; Flood Waters Defend Madrid

SHAMBLES OF ALCAZAR

This Associated Press radiophoto of the once-proud Spanish citadel of the Alcazar at Toledo graphically pictures the smoke-soiled, blasted ruins of grimly defended by the remnants of the original 1,700 insurgent defenders. Gaping holes, piles of shattered masonry are about all that remain of the fortress which has been shelled and dynamited almost continuously for more than two months. (Associated Press Photo.)

Fascist Insurgents Swarm Into Upper Sections of Fortress and Rake Loyalists With Machine Gun Fire; Aid is Near.

DAM IS OPENED

Waters of Alberche Dam Loosened Upon Rebels in Effort to Save Loyalist Capital.

By JAMES C. OLDFIELD

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)
Toledo, Sept. 24.—Dust-choked government militiamen, organized into dynamite-throwing squads, battled today to crush attacking Fascist insurgents inside the ruined Alcazar.

I climbed up the ruins of the southwest tower and watched the slowly-advancing Socialists hurl bundles of dynamite sticks at the embattled insurgents.

The way was prepared for the militiamen by a heavy artillery barrage. As soon as the cannonade ceased, the Socialist formations advanced to blow the Fascists out of their war-torn havens.

The insurgents swarmed into the upper section of the battered south and east sides of the fortress and raked the advancing government ranks with rifle and machine gun fire. The ruins shook with the crash of explosions and in the cellars a "no-quarter" sniping contest killed the air with flying bullets.

For the first time in almost a month the Fascists held a strategic point on the great upper walls of the historic fortress from which they were able to dominate the city gates. "Little good that will do them," a syndicalist militiaman said to me. "Last night we captured another one of their food stores and brought out hundreds of sacks of wheat and whole cases of canned fish, preserves and apples."

An attempted aerial attack by Fascist planes failed when a squadron of more than 20 government ships chased the insurgent pilots away from the city.

Meanwhile, long lines of heavily loaded trucks rumbled along the Madrid-Toledo highway bringing more reinforcements to strengthen the government's defenses against the insurgent army pressing in from the northwest.

On Toward Toledo

With the insurgent armies at Torrijos, Spain, Sept. 24 (AP)—Four insurgent columns, after the briefest of rests, pushed on toward Toledo today.

The advance guard surrounded the villages of Barcience and Rielves, 12 miles from their objective.

Rielves was stated to be the last settlement between the insurgents and Toledo on the direct route from Torrijos.

The march was resumed after a short respite, granted by officers after the capture of Maqueda. Torrijos was made headquarters for this offensive, which the officers hoped would crush final resistance of Toledo.

A violent bombardment of Torrijos by two government planes, just before the march was resumed, failed to cause appreciable damage.

Government militiamen were offering no immediate resistance to the advance, but seemed to be strongly entrenched on a hill on the horizon, which the insurgents expected to attack momentarily.

Alberche Dam Opened

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)
Madrid, Sept. 24.—Madrid's defenders in a new and extreme thrust to state off insurgent columns, announced today they had loosed the waters of Alberche dam over San Martin de Valdeiglesias, scheduled point of convergence for Fascist columns 26 miles west of the capital.

The government said it believed the town had been destroyed and with it considerable amounts of insurgent guns, trucks, horses and mules.

Dispatches from Burgos, seat of the insurgent Junta, said Fascist northern armies were driving through mountain passes with the intention of meeting a southern column in the vicinity of San Martin.

At the same time, the official radio ordered all militiamen in Madrid to report to barracks and drivers to stand by at garages for orders.

Resisting Advance

The government also announced its forces in the Toledo sector were resisting an advance by several powerful Fascist columns, 12 1/2 miles from the city.

Reports that insurgents had captured Toledo were denied categorically.

All the capital's newspapers urged the militia to stand resolutely to "the end." One editorial said: "The German soldiers who took Liria were not heroes who could boast of their victory. The Potsdam

Legion Affirms Monroe Doctrine, To Elect Colmery

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24 (AP)—The American Legion, all set to hand its national commandership to Harry W. Colmery, Topeka, Kans., lawyer, today affirmed its belief in the Monroe Doctrine as a measure of peace and opposed entry of the United States into the League of Nations by a unanimous vote.

The veterans also approved a resolution opposing any modification or cancellation of war debts and voted to refuse all future loans to nations in default on their war debts.

Another resolution urged the United States government to maintain a strict policy of neutrality and remain "free of any alliance which might draw the country into war."

The delegates condemned activities of the Black Legion and asked Congress to investigate the mysterious hooded order. It also suggested publicity to prevent any danger of confusing Black Legion and the American Legion.

A resolution recommending universal finger-printing of the civil population of the country and a system of identification for all non-citizens with legislation to make the system effective as a national policy was adopted.

The Legionnaires voted to make an employment program a major policy and reaffirmed their "condemnation of mob violence and lynching through the United States."

Headquarters of Colmery, the Topeka, Kan., attorney and one-time flying instructor, claimed every vote in sight and concentrated on a hunt for "rabid" vice commanders, whose selection was required to conform roughly to geographical lines.

The American Legion Auxiliary formally elected Mrs. Lorena Hahn of Wayne, Neb., as national president today in the closing session of its 16th annual convention. She was unopposed.

Italy Won't Attend

Rome, Sept. 24 (AP)—Seats for Ethiopia in the League of Nations Assembly means Italy's absence around European council tables, well-informed sources declared today. Premier Mussolini, whose attempt to have Emperor Haile Selassie's representatives barred from Geneva failed yesterday, was reported considering a vigorous statement of his future policy. He may outline future Italian action, these sources predicted, but probably will not reach from the international group.

New the Next President

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 23 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, was introduced to a party rally here as "the next president of the United States." After Cyrus McCormick, Republican national committeeman for New Mexico, made the slip, Knox said he had broken his address last night. "No—just a representative of the next president. All London is captain of this ship. I'm just the first mate, and I follow his leadership gladly."

Sales of Tear Gas To Industry Told To Senate Today

Washington, Sept. 24 (AP)—Large sales of tear gas to industrialists in nearly every state were revealed today by a Senate committee investigating alleged civil liberties violations in labor disputes.

Testimony that his firm had sold almost $500,000 worth of gas and equipment to corporations and individuals between 1932 and 1934 was given by A. S. Allen, vice president of the Lake Erie Chemical Company, one of the nation's three gas manufacturers.

A "gas map" of the United States, showing concentrated sales in industrial districts, was spread against the marble walls of the hearing room by investigators for the La Follette committee.

Large purchases of the gas, commonly used in strike breaking, were shown in the steel and rubber regions of eastern Ohio, industrial districts of New York and in Louisiana and California, scene of longshoremen's strikes.

Allen described different types of gas equipment manufactured by his firm, including a "K.O. Gas" which causes "violent nausea and severe headaches and a sense of suffocation," lasting sometimes for an entire day.

Explosive grenades, which might cause "severe injury" to any person within 15 feet, were sold with a warning that they should not be thrown into crowds unless "drastic treatment" was desired, Allen said.

Roosvelt to Attend
New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt will attend the first World Series game in Yankee Stadium a week from tomorrow. Officials of the club announced today. Yankee officials also announced that all box seats available in the American League park have been sold but that many reserved seats are still unsold.

Though officials of the New York Giants are taking orders for tickets, none will be filed until the Giants definitely clinch the pennant.

Bank of France Raises Discount

Paris, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Bank of France raised its discount rate from 2 to 3 per cent today.

The drastic 2-point increase was ordered in an effort to halt the increasing drain on French gold reserves.

Only yesterday, French political circles reported the government, worried by the gold drain which between August 7 and September 11 took 1,455,000,000 francs (about $45,000,000) out of France, had conferred with British financial advisers concerning the possibility of "realization" of the franc.

The government was reported seeking a British promise that the pound would not be further devalued in the event.

Last night the department called from Genoa with 17 cases of gold, bound for New York banks. The gold is expected to depart next of tomorrow's morning to disburse of the situation.

Judge R. C. Harper Finds Republican Sentiment Strong

"Not in 16 years have I seen Republican sentiment so strong as it is this year, from the New York city line, up through Westchester, Orange and Ulster counties," said Judge Roscoe C. Harper, formerly connected with the U. S. Treasury, talking to a Freeman reporter this morning.

Judge Harper is in command of one of the motorized campaign units of the Republican National Committee which left New York city Monday for an upstate tour and which visited places in Ulster county Wednesday, stopping at Saugerties Wednesday night.

The unit, which consists of a Dodge coupe, with a well equipped trailer, including a standard sound motion picture outfit, loud speakers and double amplifiers, stopped on Wall street for a few minutes this morning and played several stirring airs in front of the office of County Chairman Philip Elting. It left shortly afterward for Delaware county, expecting to reach Margaretville about 11 o'clock and going on for a big meeting at Delhi tonight. Friday will be spent in Greene county and Saturday they will move on to Schoharie. Monday they will go to Albany and remain through the Republican convention, resuming their travels upstate on Wednesday.

Judge Harper, who is a veteran campaigner, having been speaking during campaigns for the past 28 years, was greeted by a good attendance in the noon meeting held at Liberty Square, Ellenville, Wednesday. With him through the day on the trip through Ulster county were District Attorney Cleon B. Murray, Coroner Lester DuBois and Frederick Stang, clerk of the Board of Supervisors. Mrs. Margaret L. Cass, head of the Albany women's organization, introduced Mrs. Myrtle Pym of Rhinebeck, who spoke to the crowd that had gathered for the meeting at Ellenville. The ladies also accompanied the caravan as far as New Paltz.

From Ellenville the unit moved on to Kerhonkson, where about 100 gathered to hear the various speakers. It then moved over the Minne-waska Trail to New Paltz, where Judge Harper addressed a crowd estimated at 300. A stop was also made at Rosendale after which the caravan moved on to Saugerties for the night meeting.

After speaking at the evening meeting at Saugerties Judge Harper left Fred Stang to make the second talk of the evening there while he drove to Catskill to address a meeting at that place. Congressman Philip Goodwin and Senator Arthur H. Wicks were also present at the Catskill meeting and made addresses.

Judge Harper said this morning that his unit had just returned from taking part in the recent strenuous campaign in Maine, where they did their full share in accounting for the sweeping Republican victory.

Calcium and Phosphorus Important Body Minerals

The greater part of the body's mineral content consists of calcium and phosphorus, mainly combined with oxygen as "lime" in the bones and teeth. These two mineral elements, states a writer in the Detroit News, are also important in the soft tissues and body fluids. The red cells of the blood are dependent on their content of iron. The proper contraction and relaxation of the heart muscle depend on the presence of the right proportions of calcium, sodium and potassium salts in the blood plasma.

Copper, like iron, is believed essential in the process of hemoglobin formation in the blood. Manganese appears to have important relations to growth and development, to reproduction and lactation. Iodine is important as an essential constituent of thyroxine, characteristic product of the thyroid gland.

Potassium, sulphur, sodium, and chlorine are also essential to bodily health and are widely distributed in normal foods. There are other mineral elements such as aluminum, zinc, fluorine, etc., found in very minute amounts and their function is not so well known.

"The Devil's Tower"

"The Devil's Tower" is situated in Crook county, northeastern Wyoming, and is probably unparalleled anywhere in the world as an example of columnar rock. It is composed of a rock similar to granite, but known as phonolite, because of the metallic sound obtained when a thin piece is struck. The structure stands 865 feet above the brilliantly colored foothill on which it appears to rest. The diameter at the base is close to 1,000 feet. The top, which has an approximate area of an acre and a half, is covered with sagebrush, ferns, mosses, and grass.

Should your clothing become ignited, drop to the floor and roll into a rug or blanket. That will cut off the supply of oxygen and smother the flames. Thousands of people, insane with panic, have run, thus fanning the blaze—at the cost of their lives.

PERPETUAL ICE IS FOUND UNDER LAVA

Scientist Makes Discovery in New Mexico.

New York—A lava bed whose surface is unpleasantly warm to the touch does not seem a likely setting for a deposit of perpetual ice. Yet in just such a locality, where the brazen New Mexican sun beats down upon a surface which once was molten stone, a deposit of perpetual ice does exist.

A visit to such a wonderland of paradox is described by John Stewart MacClary in "Natural History" published by the American museum. After describing his trip down the steep slope of volcanic sink Mr. MacClary goes on to say:

"The floor of the sink is covered by jagged chunks of grayish black basalt which once formed a roof above the cavity. The accumulated warmth of the air in the depression strikes one almost like the blast from a furnace. One wonders how ice could possibly withstand a temperature such as this. Irregular chunks of fallen stone block what seems to be a cavern in the wall of the sink. As the perspiring visitor approaches this rubble, the air becomes noticeably cooler. Perhaps, after all, the cave of perpetual ice is not a myth."

"By this time a feeling of eager expectancy has seized the visitor. He climbs the heap of fallen stone that obstructs the mouth of the cavern. At the summit of the disorderly pile he gazes down into the depths whence comes the current of cool air."

"The sight which greets his eyes is well worth the effort he has spent. Imagine a bank of solid ice, from 12 to 14 feet in height and some 50 feet in width, calmly resting in a tunnel of what once was molten stone—the hottest manifestation of the earth's internal heat!"

"The beholder is naturally perplexed as to how the ice was formed and why it does not melt away. Its presence so near the hot surface of the ground depends primarily upon the fact that lava is among Nature's most efficient temperature insulators. The lava contains an infinite number of minute pores and cavities, and the dead air in them hinders the transmission of heat through the stone from the sun. Once the bulk of a lava deposit has become thoroughly chilled to its depths, heat from the sun cannot penetrate the frigid mass."

Old Auto His Weapon in Fight on Drouth

Independence, Mo.—C. S. Risinger, truck farmer, whipped this year's drouth with an $80 second-hand motor car.

Learning his lesson from the 1934 drouth, Risinger decided to irrigate. He bought a 1928 model car, drove it to a creek on the edge of his 37-acre farm near here, and used its motor to power a water pump.

The water was pumped directly from the creek bed to feeder canals, which conveyed it to smaller canals between the rows of plants. Now Risinger has four men working for him and is pumping water 10 hours a day.

Sturdy, fast-growing corn stalks sway in the hot dry wind on the 15 acres of his farm which slope suitable for irrigation. Cucumbers, squashes, peppers and tomatoes also flourish, while only a few feet away unirrigated patches of the same vegetables are parched and stunted.

"Pumping water produces a crop far above normal during a drouth," said Risinger, "but it isn't really a question of how much it increases production. Without irrigation there would have been no crop."

Thought Is Urged Upon Those Who Want Strength

Boston—Think and grow stronger, advises Dr. Frederick Rand Rogers, physical education director at Boston university.

To quote Doctor Rogers: "The ordinary business executive is stronger than the average day laborer, just as the professors at the School of Education show a greater physical fitness index than their students."

The reason? Because thinking "puts into action that fundamental function of the brain, the co-ordinating of muscle cells of the body."

Doctor Rogers bases his assertion on results of a series of tests with a manometer or hand dynamometer, which when squeezed in the hand registers the number of pounds pressure.

The Adriatic Sea
Americans are prone to think of the Adriatic as an Italian sea, but as a matter of fact it equally washes the shores of Jugoslavia. It stretches north for some 480 miles and the average distance between shores is about 100 miles. In the southern part it reaches a depth of 4,000 feet, shoaling off to 500 feet in the northern section. For centuries the Jugoslavian side has been known as "Nase More," while on the Italian side it is "Mare Nostrum."

The Provincial Congress
On October 11, 1774, the government of Massachusetts forever passed out of British rule, for on that day the provincial congress was organized in Concord. The new authority deposed the royal governor, one by one, of all his powers and functions, and became master of all the arsenals. Every farmer's barn, as well as the courthouse, the tavern shed and the miller's loft, was requisitioned for the hiding of provisions and war supplies.

Converge on Madrid

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press.)
Burgos, Spain, Sept. 24—Fascist northern and southern armies converged on Madrid today with the start of a pounding offensive which insurgent commanders said would be "continual."

The booming of Fascist artillery in the jagged passes of the Guadarrama mountains north of the capital signaled the beginning of the drive, headquarters of the insurgent provisional government announced. Military commanders outlined this campaign:

Fascist artillery and infantry, concentrated on the northern mountainous slopes, laid siege to fortified positions held by government militiamen near Somo Sierra, northern gateway to Madrid.

Other insurgent batteries and troops, located farther west in the mountains, blasted Socialist lines in an attempt to break through to meet a southern column marching due north from Maqueda, strategic highway junction 45 miles southwest of Madrid.

The second northern group was ordered to meet the southern column in the vicinity of San Martin de Valdeglesias, approximately 40 miles straight west of the capital.

The third Fascist attack was centered on the highway running north-east between Talavera de la Reina and Madrid where the attackers were reported within 20 miles of Naval Carnero, which itself is only 20 miles from Madrid.

Landon-New Deal Principles Heard By New York Forum

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—An appeal by President Roosevelt for "clear thinking" in determining the future of the country and an attack by Gov. Alf M. Landon on what he termed "waste and extravagance" of the New Deal were written into the record of the Herald-Tribune forum on current problems today.

The President, speaking from his Hyde Park, N. Y., home last night, said the forum might start political partisans thinking and "convey the idea that prejudice is a rather weak substitute for logic in determining the questions that are of such vital consequence to our country as a whole and to each individual citizen thereof."

Landon in his statement—read by Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., eastern Republican campaign manager—lashed out at the "narrow nationalism in its (the administration's) planned economy."

Both candidates upheld freedom of the press.

"Freedom of speech and a free press is essential to the continuation of true liberalism," Landon's statement said.

Mr. Roosevelt appealed for direct handling of news—"The commodity that is marketed to the whole people"—and said he did not believe "a journal's news columns ought to be tampered with, either by coloring news or leaving out news."

Liberty of Press
"In the welter of passion which apparently is still inseparable from our political campaigns," Mr. Roosevelt said, "you and I hear about the liberty of the press—regimentation of the press against the government and regimentation of the press by the government."

"It is doubtful if the United States ever had an administration since the days when Washington was accused of despotism and aspirations to kingship that had the slightest desire to muzzle anybody. The unchecked virulence of assaults on almost every administration since the beginning of our history in itself is best proof of that statement."

Former President Hoover, in another forum address, advocated local rather than federal administration of relief and charged that federal administration had led to greed, labor shortages in industry, a "numb dependency" of relief recipients, and resentment, instead of sympathy, toward the unemployed.

During his administration, he said, relief was handled locally and "no one starved," and there were no charges of politics, waste or corruption.

"What we cannot excuse today," Landon said, "is the fact that waste and extravagance and the reckless experimentation then initiated have been fastened upon Washington as the habitual thriftlessness of a prodigal government of over-expending bureaucrats."

Referring to what he termed the New Deal's "narrow nationalism," Landon said "America cannot exist safely and self-contained without foreign trade or any responsibility abroad. . . . I am for that economic cooperation with other nations which will fully protect America's interests. I pledge practical support for the peaceful settlement of international disputes through arbitration and negotiations."

Special Services at Emergency Home

The officer in charge of the local work of The Volunteers of America, Adjutant Arthur Noble, wishes to announce that special services will be conducted on Sunday, September 27, in the interest of the local work of the Nursery and Women's and Children's Emergency Home located in this city at 44 Barman avenue. It is expected that speakers for these services will include Mrs. General Maude Ballington Booth, who is known as "the little mother of the Prisoners," Major W. O. Ulmer, New York state commander, and possibly Colonel Hughes, the new eastern regional commander.

There will be a united meeting in St. James M. E. Church Sunday evening at 7:30. A large number of city churches are uniting for this service. Mrs. General Maude Ballington Booth is booked as the principal speaker Sunday afternoon at 2. The local American Legion Post will present a new American flag to the organization for the nursery. There will be sacred music and speaking. Inspection of the building and equipment already secured is invited at that time.

Adjutant Noble wishes to make it clear to the people of Kingston, that the Volunteers of America are not connected with any other organization, but are an independent Mission and Welfare Organization. The local headquarters office for the present will be located in the Nursery, 24 Barman avenue. Anyone wishing to donate crib, single beds, high chairs, bedding, chairs or any other furnishings needed can be assured these will reach the nursery if you will call phone 1833, or send a post card addressed to the Volunteers of America Nursery, 24 Barman avenue, Kingston, Or. If you wish to donate any cash it can be sent to Gordon A. Craig, Kingston Trust Co., Kingston, who is acting as the endorsement board treasurer, or to Adjutant Noble.

Indian and Sign Language
Aside from Indians, most persons who become skilled at the art of pantomime or sign language employ gestures of face, hands and body to make themselves clear. Indians are noted for keeping straight faces when they talk with their hands, but then, Indians used this device often when dealing with unknown or enemy tribes.

that they intend to meet soon to lay the groundwork for the subsidy program.

The shipping board bureau already has done much "spade work." Among other things, it has assembled data showing that about 350 new vessels—freighters, tankers and passenger boats—will be needed over the next few years to put the merchant marine in tip-top condition. These vessels would cost around $500,000,000.

The board may grant construction subsidies up to 50 per cent, and operators may receive authority to meet another 25 per cent of the total cost through "installment" payments over a period of years.

Both the construction and operating subsidies will be based upon the difference between foreign costs and those in this country.

Defends Contributions.

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., insisted it was a right and a duty for citizens to make such contributions as they wish "toward the legitimate expenses of the political party in whose principles and leadership we have faith" in a statement replying to Democratic criticisms of Rockefeller contributions to the Maine Republican campaign.

The statement was issued last night on behalf of himself, his wife, and his son John. Rockefeller emphasized in the statement that his 93-year-old father, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., had made no contribution. Saying "we have all our lives been members of the party to which we contributed," Rockefeller asserted that he, his wife and son have resided in Maine a part of each year, and "we are intensely interested in the state and all that concerns its welfare."

The statement said the Rockefellers believed political parties were the best agencies for submitting to the voters "such information and argument . . . needed for correct decisions on public issues," and "we know no method of meeting the costs of gathering such information and presenting it, without danger to the republic, other than through contributions by individuals to such parties."

As a result of these Rockefeller beliefs, the statement said, "the members of my family and I have made no contributions whatever to other organizations, which are taking a part, large or small, in the present campaign."

Townsend Re-Incorporation.

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP).—Re-incorporation of the Townsend old age pension movement under a new name and with a provision that its funds be turned over to the federal government was announced today by Gilmour Young, national secretary.

Young said articles of incorporation would be filed today with the secretary of state of Delaware, changing the name of the organization from Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., to the Townsend National Recovery Plan, Inc.

"For a long time the Townsend people have felt that the name, 'Old Age Revolving Pensions,' was meaningless so far as defining the real objective of the Townsend Plan and its value to the people of the United States," Young said in announcing the change.

"Once assets in O. A. R. P. are depleted it will become a dormant corporation," he said. "Beginning October 1, all current income will be turned into the accounts of the Townsend National Recovery Plan."

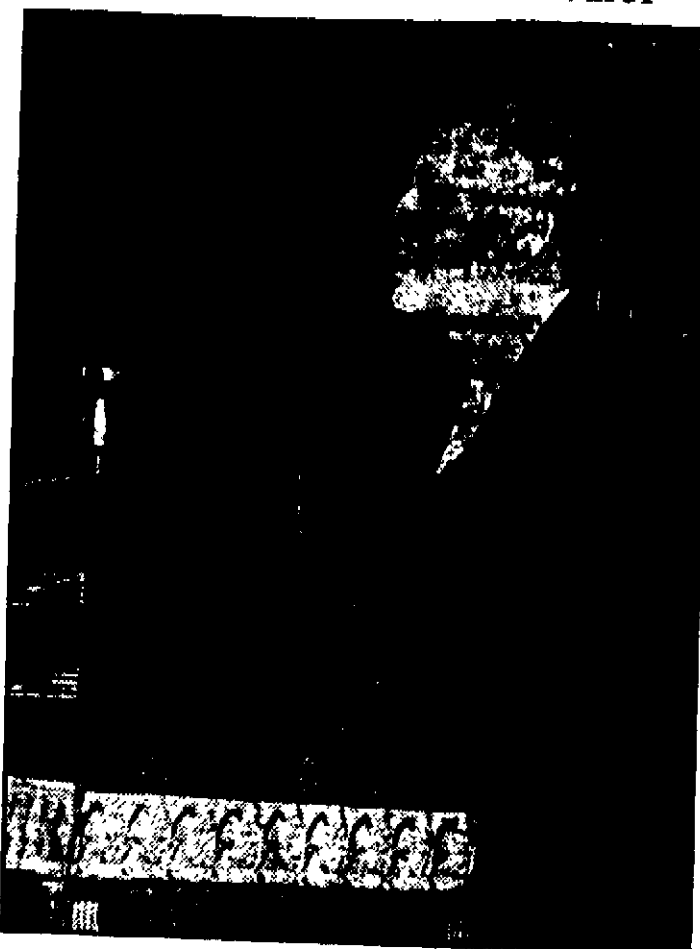

Young said the articles of incorporation provided for three memberships in the new corporation, to be held by himself, Dr. Francis C. Townsend, co-founder of the movement, and Dr. Townsend's 23 year old son, Robert C. Townsend.

Young said the three shares of old age revolving pensions, Ltd., were now held by himself, Dr. Townsend and the doctor's brother, Walter Townsend of Los Angeles. "One of the three memberships were transferred to Dr. Townsend's son as he wished his son to symbolize the benefits of the Townsend plan to the youth of the nation," Young explained.

Kingston: "The Arizona Raiders" and "A Son Comes Home". In the first cinema, Larry Crabbe rides, shoots and swims his way through a thrill packed yarn of cattle thieving and adventure in the Zane Grey film. Teamed up with him is Marsha Hunt and the rest of the supporting cast includes Raymond Hatton, Johnny Downs, Jane Rhodes and others. The accompanying feature, "A Son Comes Home", is a dramatic story of a mother placed in the position of turning her wayward son over to the police for murder or letting die an innocent youth charged with the crime. It stars Mary Boland, who exhibits plenty of emotional power. Donald Woods plays the part of the innocent youth.

Broadway: "My American Wife," starring Francis Lederer and Ann Southern, is a humorous and breezy story of an Arizona gold-mine heiress who at her mother's behest (Billie Burke) weds a European count. The family discovers that he is not after the fortune, but desires to live a two-fisted, healthy life and make his own way on his own ranch. The count develops into a "regular" fellow who captures the heart of his wife's grandfather, one of the original western pioneers, and by his common sense relieves his wife of her superficial social views. The picture is good entertainment with good comedy and excellent acting.

Orpheum: "Old Man Rhythm" features Charles Buddy Rogers and a fine supporting cast in a screen story filled with plenty of just what the name implies, lots of rhythm in song and dancing feet. Besides Rogers, those in the film are Barbara Kent, Grace Bradley, Betty Grable and others well known in the entertainment world. Besides the feature, there will be screened a "Major Bowes Amateur Program".

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.

Broadway: Same.

Orpheum: "Poppy," loaded with all the color of the carnival and cut to suit the infatigable talents of America's best-loved comedian, is a screen version of the stage success of many years back in which Fields made an immediate hit. Fields appears as "Professor Eustace McGargle," drifter, seller of patent medicine, and operator of a shell game. The Professor is sole guardian of a young girl, Rochelle Hudson, who has spent her life as a traveling carnival performer. The two "hobo" their way to a small town, where Fields gets a spot in a tent show which has set up. They are hardly in the town before Rochelle meets and falls in love with Richard Cromwell, son of the town's mayor. The Professor acquires money; a huge estate in the village is awaiting the discovery of the young girl who is its rightful owner. He arranges a scheme to have Rochelle recognized as the missing heiress. His scheme works, for a time, then is uncovered. A twist ending leaves the girl a happy resident of the village, engaged to Cromwell, and the Professor wandering off to rejoin the only life he knows—that of a drifting carnival performer. Others prominent in the cast of featured players include Lynne Overman, Catharine Donnet and Rosalind Keith.

A fine political speech is one that tells you just what you want to believe.

SHOUTS 'LIAR,' DRINKS POISON

Prefacing her action with a shout of "You're a liar" at Col. Grants Annulment Of Her Marriage

Supreme Court Justice R. E. Aldrich has granted the application of Esther Stapleton, plaintiff, for annulment of her marriage to Edward B. Dunnigan, defendant. Mrs. Dunnigan, who lives in Kingston, made application at a special term of Supreme court in July for an order of annulment on the grounds of fraud. She alleged in her moving papers that the defendant, whose whereabouts is now unknown, has failed to carry out a promise to marry in accordance with the provisions of her faith. The marriage took place in New York city on August 26, 1930, and she claims that at the time he promised later to have a church service. The wedding took place before a magistrate in New York city.

Justice Aldrich grants the application for the annulment of the marriage. Gingerbread may be called old-fashioned—but it is a fashion of which few families ever tire. Served piping hot from the oven with whipped cream topping, and a baked apple or a dish of apple sauce, it's a dessert fit for an American! Or, serve it cold, in the company of fresh or canned fruit.

Epitaphs in Shorthand

Once epitaphs on tombstones and memorial tablets were engraved in shorthand so the family could freely express unkind opinions of the deceased—and still keep them from the public. One such tablet, hanging in St. Mary's Church in Sculcoates, England, states that the lady, who died in 1761, "was a poor sinner but not wicked, and ungodly but not unrighteous." — Collier's Weekly.

The First Mirror

The process of depositing metallic silver on glass to produce a mirror was discovered by Baron Liebig, a German scientist, early in the Nineteenth century. He found that by pouring silver ammonium nitrate, mixed with certain reducing agents, on a glass plate the silver would precipitate and form a film of pure metallic silver on the glass. From this discovery has evolved the present-day method of mirror manufacture.—Industrial and Engineering Chemistry.

FINALE OF A STREET SHOW

It wasn't supposed to end this way—a tug-of-war between show girls in New York's bustling Times Square—but Policeman Walter Wirth arrested blonde Sylvia Marsh, 21, for illegal possession of a firearm. The weapon was used by Sylvia to give the starting signal for the tug-of-war. (Associated Press Photo)

Hi-Y Club Met At "Y" Wednesday

An interesting meeting of the boys' Hi-Y Club was held at the Y.
M. C. A. last evening. Several items of business and discussion of proposed projects preceded the regular arranged program which was the report of the Hi-Y Conference held at Glenorie Lake the past week-end.

Among the plans discussed was the proper observance, locally, of "Hi-Y Week". After several suggestions had been made, a motion was passed leaving the matter of working out the details to the executive committee. As money would be needed to carry on the various activities, a dime dance in the school gym was proposed if permission could be secured. It was also suggested that Hi-Y operate a refreshment stand at the high school football games.
President Richter appointed a committee of Richard Pfeiffer, Arthur Fritter and John McCallough to investigate the possibilities of the latter and report at the next meeting.

The matter of a city stadium or proper place for school teams to play was also keenly discussed, ending in the appointment of Harry Wilbur, Edward Safford and Harold Canfield as a resolution committee to bring in a report at the next week's meeting which would set forth the club's attitude on this subject.

The report of the Hi-Y Officers' conference was given by Frank O'Hara, secretary of the club and his account was supplemented by briefer reports from Gilbert Richter and Joseph Heaney. It was very evident from the boys' description that the conferences gave them many technical helps for carrying on their Hi-Y work, as well as inspiration and enthusiasm with which to do it.

European, American Plan

When a hotel is operated on the European plan the guest pays a stipulated amount for his lodging only. If he eats at the hotel he pays for his meals separately, just as if he were eating at an independent grill or restaurant. Under the American plan the guest pays for both lodging and meals at a regular rate. In the early history of the United States most of the inns and hotels were run on the European plan, but now there are very few hotels operated on this plan except in the smaller cities and at resorts. The European plan prevails in most foreign countries.
In this country some hotels combine both plans, leaving it to the wish of the guest to pay a regular rate for lodging only or for both lodging and meals.

It is said that the state of Oklahoma is now without a "Public Enemy Number One" for the first time since 1907. What did they do with the fellow who goes around slapping people on the back?

By L. L. STEVENSON

Baby Bunting Stuff: A lot of Broadwayites go up into Connecticut over the week-end with the intention of hunting rabbits. Whether or not they bring back any game, they certainly bring back yarns about desperate encounters with bunnies in the hills and dales of the Nutmeg State — yarns that would make Frank Buck blush. Among the more enthusiastic of the hunters is Johnny the Call Boy who is so small that, reports have it, he has to make sure his rabbit is dead before he picks it up, otherwise he would have to fight for his life. Incidentally, I've heard stories of good hunting, even if this isn't rabbit season but I haven't seen a rabbit — except those that occasionally run across the highway at high speed.

Just a Slight Drop: Up in Stamford, N. Y., which is in the heart of the summer resort section, the hotel men got together to ascertain the highest point in the town. It was discovered that 2,500 feet, which, though somewhat lower than nearby hills, is as high up as the village goes. At any rate, a hotel happened to be located at that point, so that 2,500-foot elevation was duly advertised, according to my informant. But some prospective guests wrote that their hearts wouldn't stand that altitude. So the advertising was changed to read, "Altitude, 1,700 feet" and everything is going along all right.

Music and the Law: Our old hand-organ man, the one with the handle-bar mustache and a fondness for "The Marseillaise," is back on the job again. Questioned as to how he got around the mayor's order barring hurdy-gurdys, he replied that, after he had laid off until his money was all gone, he visited the mayor and begged him for a license. The mayor, so the organ-grinder said, replied that he couldn't give him a license but he could take his organ out provided he moved along whenever any one ordered him to do so. Instead of ordering him to move on, May went down with a dime and thereby obtained three more tunes — and this paragraph.

This and That Dep't: The McAlpin is said to be the only New York hotel with a woman house detective on its staff. . . . Joan Marsh, motion picture actress, may be added to the list of those with hobbies. She collects autographs of other motion picture actresses. . . . Richard Gordon, whose radio life as Sherlock Holmes is spent tracking down criminals, won't go to any movie or read any book dealing with gangs or gangsters. . . . Philips Lord, radio gang buster, is afraid he'll have to give up his livelihood. His daughter Patricia is the cause. When she grows up, she wants to be a "lady cop." . . . Jimmy, Phil Duey's seven-year-old son, a favorite with Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor, Phil Baker and other grown-ups who visit the Duey home, is a hard luck youngster. After getting a tooth knocked out, he fell ill with mumps. Recovering, he ran right into a siege of measles. But he's getting along nicely.

Search for an Original: A report that a member of the original cast of "Aida," first produced in Cairo in 1871, is somewhere in New York is causing a lot of activity on the part of members of the Del'Orfice Opera Co. Despite the years that must have come on the singer, he is wanted to take part in the millionth performance which is to be given August 1 with the Welfare Council of New York's fund for crippled children as the beneficiary.

Just as Woman to Woman: Esther Velas, who wields a baton over an all-male orchestra in the Hotel Roosevelt, doesn't think the average woman musician is in the same class with the average male musician. "She is too sentimental a creature to become a really good performer," declared Miss Velas. Born in Russia, educated in France, Miss Velas, a concert violinist at sixteen, has conducted orchestras in various parts of the world — all male orchestras. And she can express her opinion of women musicians in seven languages.

"Old Faithful" Isn't Faithful Any More

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., — The longest and shortest intervals between eruptions of Old Faithful geyser were recorded here recently. The usually reliable geyser spouted once at 11:36 a. m. and then burst into action again at 12:36 p. m., a wait of only thirty minutes. Then followed an interval of ninety-two minutes, or until 1:38 p. m. Old Faithful seldom varies from sixty-five-minute intervals between outbursts.

District Attorney's Term Is NOT For Life!

The voters of Ulster County never have regarded any office as a lifetime job.

The voters need not agree with the aims of some officeholders to occupy an important elective office beyond a reasonable period.

Changes are necessary in the interests of good government.

Cleon B. Murray has served as Assistant District Attorney of Ulster County from November 10, 1922, to September 16, 1930, a period of 7 years and 10 months.

Mr. Murray has been twice elected to the office of District Attorney of Ulster County, his terms commencing January 1, 1930, and continuing to December 31, 1936, for a total period of 6 years.

Mr. Murray has been Assistant District Attorney or District Attorney for a total period of 13 years and 10 months.

Mr. Murray now seeks a third term as District Attorney.

Has Mr. Murray had enough?

That is the question the voters will decide on Election Day.

If you are of the opinion that Mr. Murray has occupied the office of District Attorney for a sufficient length of time, then cast your ballot for Pomona Quarterly Meeting.

The Ulster county Pomona Grange quarterly meeting was held in the Lake Katrine Grange hall, Friday, September 18, with the worthy Pomona Master, Albert Kurdt, presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting and the reports of the subordinate Granges were read. Also reports of officers were given and the amount of the county scholarship fund reported. Delegates to the State Grange were appointed and resolutions were passed. County Dramatics contest and prize speaking contest were planned for. This was followed by a program which was prepared by county lecturer, Mrs. Mary O'Connor and was as follows:

A talk, The coming presidential election . . . Mrs. O'Connor

A talk, The Influence of Women's Votes . . . Mrs. Young of Milton Grange.

Roll call, answering questions, "What is your idea of a good citizen?" which proved extremely interesting and varied.

Awards in canning contest: First prize going to Mrs. Hawser of Homewick.

The program was followed by a delicious supper at which the ladies of the Lake Katrine Grange are artists as has been proven over and over.

After supper the Grange opened for the evening session, about 250 patrons being present.

MODES of the MOMENT

Spanish Hats For Smart Americans

The Spanish revolution turned the fashion world's eyes toward the land of dark eyed senoritas. Sally Victor, inspired by the mantilla of a Castilian beauty, designs a black velvet toque which rises in a high ridge like a Spanish comb, tucks a red velvet rose on the side and drapes the whole with a black lace veil of the Spanish type.

Director Stalin personally planned a bottling record. The thing we strap watch to the wrist of a little Russian girl who won the Soviet does it keep?

Health Never Disregarded. Orangeburg, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Dedicating a new children's group of buildings at the Rockland State Hospital, recently completed at a cost of $388,000, Governor Lehman said today that "in spite of the depression we have not for a moment disregarded our responsibility for the health of our people."

"It devoutly hope and pray that it will never be necessary for us to do so," he added. The chief executive came here directly from Cleveland, O., where yesterday he addressed the National American Legion Convention.

KINGSTON MEN
say: "This Apple Pie is Tops!"
—and its "Sprycrust" is as easy to digest as plain bread

EVERY man who tastes this pie says it's one in a million! Every woman begs for the recipe. Juicy amber apples with a marvelous spicy tang. And a golden brown crust that's sheer perfection, so tender and flaky, so light and delicate a breeze could blow it away!

Easy to make in a jiffy with Spry, the new, pure ALL-vegetable shortening.

Spry is smoother, whiter, creamier and so pure it stays fresh right on the pantry shelf.

No need to keep in the ice-box. Thus Spry is always soft and easy to cream. It cuts into the flour so easily when you're making pastry. No wonder your pie crust is so tender and flaky—your cakes and biscuits far lighter and more delicate.

Spry is a grand improvement for frying, too. No smoke or unpleasant odor. Foods fry deliciously crisp and brown and tasty. And they're as easy to digest as if baked or boiled. Try Spry today.

The new, purer ALL-vegetable shortening

SPICY APPLE PIE

8 large tart apples, sliced thin
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 recipe Spry Pie Crust

Roll 1/4 of Spry dough 1/4-inch thick and line 9-inch pie plate. Fill with sliced apples. Mix sugar, spices, salt and lemon juice. Sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Moisten edge of pie crust with water. Roll top crust, cut a few slashes in center for steam to escape and fit over apples. Seal edge of pie. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 30 to 40 minutes.

SPRY PIE CRUST

Flaky, tender, digestible

2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup Spry (the digestible shortening)
5 tablespoons cold water (about)

Sift flour and salt together. Add 1/4 of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as corn meal (so much quicker and easier with ready-creamed Spry). Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a navy bean. Sprinkle water, 1 tablespoon at a time, over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatism, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Baby Julian Tafel Finds Mercy In Death Today as Father Hoped; Texas Boy Survives Rare Operation

MRS. EVA TAFEL AND BABY JULIAN

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP)—Baby Julian Tafel found mercy today in death.

The fate he had fled since birth—and once escaped—last night stopped the heart that kept his malformed body alive for six days of harried existence.

It was a painless end, the kind of "mercy death" his father had hoped for, against his mother's wishes.

Starvation had been decreed by a "bottomless" colon, and from the start the father favored letting "Nature take its course."

The mother's pleas won out, and an operation on Tuesday stayed off death. But the child was doomed.

He had no chance from the beginning. It was disclosed by an autopsy, performed two hours after the physicians gave up the battle at the baby's oxygen tent. Had he not died of uremic poisoning after the operation, a necessary secondary operation would have killed him, they declared.

Seriously Malformed
Not only was the large intestine incomplete, Dr. Lewis K. Eastman reported, but the bladder was malformed, and had failed to separate from the kidneys.

The tragic death of their second child—they have a beautiful girl a few years old—brought 22-year-old Mrs. Eva Tafel and her 24-year-old husband, Julian, a garage mechanic, closer than they had been since little Julian was born last Thursday.

During the last stages of the fight to save the baby's life, when the doctors were administering adrenalin, caffeine sodium benzoate and giving artificial respiration, the father stood

Milk Holds Half Of Farm Profits

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24—Milk accounted for nearly half of the $269,423,000 New York farmers received for their products in 1935, a report of the State Department of Agriculture and Markets showed today.

The total was an increase of $31,616 over the previous year, the report said, and in line with the rise throughout the nation.

Receipts from milk amounted to about $128,473,000 compared with $119,556,000 in 1934, an increase of $8,917,000 or 7.4 per cent. Eggs brought $25,255,000 in 1935, an increase of about 30 per cent, and hay $6,334,000 compared with $6,080,000 in 1934.

"Several of the truck crops held at better prices during 1935 than during 1934," the department said, "with the result that the cash income for these amounted to $21,164,000 in 1935 and $16,728,000 in 1934, an increase of about 25 per cent."

"On account of better prices for potatoes, the cash income for this crop showed about $13,000,000 in 1935 compared with $9,802,000 in 1934, an increase of 32 per cent."

Apples brought $12,394,999 compared with $11,796,000 in 1934.

In North Carolina the office of sheriff was the first to be filled by popular vote.

Never judge a man by his nose, even in September, perhaps it is only a hang-over sunburn.

Anyway, you've got to hand it to both sides in that crazy Spanish war, for courage.

If you are in a public building when the fire alarm sounds, remember the old adage: "Walk, don't run, to the nearest exit." A legion of lives have been unnecessarily sacrificed to panic-stricken mobs in theatres, hotels and similar buildings.

General Johnson Explodes at Barbs Of Lloyd George

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—A caustic criticism by David Lloyd George that American participation in the World War was "a fuzzy muddle" drew a sharp challenge today from General Hugh Johnson, who directed the American Army's supply and traffic organization.

"It is one of the most inexplicable paradoxes of history," the wartime premier wrote in the fifth volume of his memoirs, published in London today, "that the greatest machine-producing nation on earth failed to turn out mechanism for war after 18 months of sweating, toiling, hustling."

Johnson retorted that the United States achieved "the swiftest and greatest mobilization of force by any nation or combination of nations in the war in a similar period."

Lloyd George also revived the issue of the command of the A. E. F. with barbed comments on General John J. Pershing's refusal to permit the doughboys to be absorbed into French and British units. This, too, aroused Johnson.

The Welsh statesman, while describing the American soldiers as "superb," accused Pershing of endangering the allied cause by his insistence that the American Army operate as a unit, and said Pershing "was quivering with suspicion that the British and French meant to rob him of his army."

Replied Johnson:

"I never saw Pershing quiver but he certainly had a right to. His original order in August, 1917, contemplated an American Army under an American flag. But he found both British and French using every stratagem to have American soldiers fed into their divisions, to sign in their uniforms and under their colors."

"General Pershing, with the constant knowledge and approval of President Wilson, insisted on carrying out his orders, and while at every crisis he relaxed this policy, as was superbly acknowledged by General Foch (commander-in-chief of the allied armies) he did insist on the formation of American divisions, army corps and a field army."

General Pershing, in Paris, declined to "make any comment whatsoever."

Bulldog, "Sour-Mug," Has Changed From Old Habits

Probably the most pugnacious appearing, but one of the most amiable members of the dog family is the bulldog. He is the dour looking fellow with the mashed-in face, the wrinkled brow, bowed front legs and the pronounced turned-up lower jaw.

Because of the bulldog's expression he has been nicknamed the "sour-mug," observes a writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. In reviewing the history of this breed it is noticed the dog has changed from a tugging, vicious biter of bulls to one that is peace-loving, a perfect companion and intelligent despite his facial contour.

This dog's past was one of a dark shade. In fact, there was a time in England when bulldogs appeared headed for oblivion. Early in the 17th century the barbarous "sport" of bull baiting, a test of endurance between a dog and a bull, was frowned upon by folks possessing kindness to dumb animals.

Bulldogs used for this cruel practice were naturally more massive than those of the later type. The gallery of "sportmen" gathered in a veritable "arena" to watch a bulldog grab the bull by the nose. It was a tugging battle to the death for either animal.

The dogs were trained to hang on to their "prey," to tug and pull until the bull would fall to the earth exhausted. Invariably, the dog was gored in this bloody one-sided battle. There were exceptions when the bulldog triumphed, and money changed hands.

Bars of iron used to be sold from a peddler's bag or over a merchant's counter, just like a ball of cloth, and scores of that practice are heard today in the form "Merchandise," a general-purpose bar of steel.

POLITICS at Random

THE definite submergence of what once appeared the paramount issue of the political campaign could not be more positively demonstrated than by what happened—or failed to happen—on "Constitution day," 1936.

It is not long since that political prophets were agreeing almost unanimously that this would be a year made forever memorable by a terrific political struggle over the preservation of constitutionalism.

By late summer, said the forecasters, the country would be on fire with discussion over this tremendous question, and the day set aside to observe the anniversary of the constitution was certain to produce as grand a burst of forensic pyrotechnics as the voters had seen in many years. It seemed a natural.

Now Constitution day has come and gone, and it may be doubted whether more than a small percentage of American citizens even knew of its passing.

Neither of the principal nominees for President took any notice of it. A scattering of lesser political orators mentioned it, but mostly their remarks were tucked away on the inside pages of the newspapers. In the country's largest city the chief address was delivered by the president-general of the national society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Public Not Interested

THIS decade of an early favorite among the issues is doubtless due in large part to the somewhat different attitude of the populace.

With a few exceptions it has been difficult throughout American history to interest the average voter greatly in anything as abstract as fundamental law. This year, especially, a large section of the public seems disinclined to feed on what it might regard as legal technicalities, when more easily digestible arguments are available on such subjects as relief and government spending.

The candidates and managers of the two major parties, however, have fallen in with this tendency with apparent willingness, and helped it along.

Although President Roosevelt had been hunting for months about a possible constitutional change, and some of his cabinet members had talked of it openly, not much came of it at convention time. The Philadelphia platform committee did do a little more hinting but wound up by proposing to "maintain the letter and spirit of the constitution."

The Republicans, at Cleveland, and with the idea of putting major emphasis on maintaining the constitution, as is but the almost constant supreme court decision on minimum wages greatly complicated the situation. They knew that Governor Landon would propose a labor amendment, as he subsequently did in a telegram to the convention in their platform, they "wrote around" the subject.

Both Content To Drop

SINCE then, not so much has been heard about the constitution. Both nominees have, of course, reaffirmed their allegiance to "constitutional government" (without detailed definition), but neither has made any effort to start the fire which was to have swept the nation.

So far as both candidates are concerned, the situation seems fairly acid.

Mr. Roosevelt is content, either from choice or necessity, to let the matter drift, hoping by a supreme court reversal or otherwise to establish his policies without an amendment.

Mr. Landon is not inclined to state his campaign on anything as involved as a constitutional argument. He prefers, in the words of one of his confidants, to "talk bread and butter issues."

10,000 Pickers Wanted in Cotton Fields of South

Clarksdale, Miss., Sept. 24 (AP).—Planters of the Mississippi delta broadcast an appeal today for at least 10,000 laborers to pick a bumper yield of cotton.

They faced ruin of acre upon acre of the south's largest money crop unless a labor shortage is alleviated rapidly, they said.

Samuel Hopkins, a leading Coahoma county planter, said delta farmers "can use at least 10,000 pickers" immediately. His statement followed a tour of cotton-growing counties.

Planters said a serious labor shortage existed in the area from the Tennessee-Mississippi line on the north to Louisiana on the west and south.

Hoboes gave the delta a wide berth as policemen continued to drag tramps from box cars to work in the cotton fields.

Competition for labor was so keen planters brought Mexicans from the Rio Grande valley under guard.

Growers have been offering wages up to $1 a hundred pounds. Some pickers gather 500 pounds a day, others 100 to 200 pounds.

Horse Racing Terms

"To nose" is the term used when one horse leads another by the length of the nose. To bet "on the nose" means to bet to win. The horse that "places" runs second and the one that finishes third "shows." To bet "across the board" on a horse is to wager money on the horse to win, to place and to show. To parlay is to make a multiple bet on two or more horses in different races. If the first wins, according to an authority in the Detroit News, the original bet and the winnings are bet on the second horse and, if the second wins, the entire sum again is bet on a third horse, if it is a three-horse parlay, etc.

Soviet Promises Equality To Clergy

By JOHN LLOYD

Associated Press Foreign Staff
Moscow (AP)—Almost overnight the clergyman in Soviet Russia has found himself emerging upon a plane of political equality with other citizens.

The new constitution grants him rights to vote and to stand for election to public office. Even the Society of Militant Godless has come out in support of these rights.

Approximately 100,000 persons are affected. There are that many members of the clergy still active in the Soviet Union.

"Equality of rights of the citizens of the U. S. S. R.," says the constitution, "is an irrevocable law. This is irrespective of their nationality or race and regardless of the economic, state, cultural, social or political life they may lead."

Only Small Voice.

But the right to vote and be elected does not, mean necessarily that the clergy is going to have a very great voice in public affairs. Its force numerically is but a drop in the bucket and it has the all-powerful communist party against it.

The government itself does not enter into the church dispute. Its duty, constitutionally, will be to see that freedom of religion is preserved.

Being officially apart from the government, the party can take its own stand on the question. It is notoriously anti-church. And here is what Emilian Yaroslavsky, head of the powerful Society of Godless, has to say:

Party "Would Fight."

"It is very difficult to believe that there is a clergyman in the Soviet Union who would be elected to public office."

"Suppose a clergyman were to become a candidate to the supreme council. We would have the right to fight against him and we could use his candidacy as a pretext to explain the harm of religion and religious superstitions."

Yaroslavsky admitted that there are still millions of religious people in Russia. He referred to them as the backward part of the peasantry, what is left of the small bourgeoisie and the remaining fragments of the parasitic former ruling class.

Hits U. S. On Religion.

Freedom of religion in America, he maintained, does not actually exist.

THEY'LL FIGHT THE CLERGY

Thousands of clergymen face a tussle with the powerful Society of Godless if they attempt to take advantage of the right the new constitution gives them to stand for election. Two members pore over the society's newspaper, whose cover caricatures a clergyman.

He referred particularly to bans on teaching of the theory of evolution.

Along with freedom of religion the new constitution grants Soviet citizens "freedom of speech, the press and public assembly and street demonstration."

The official press says the freedom granted in these fields will exceed that obtaining even in America.

Observers Skeptical.

"In bourgeois countries where there appears to be considerable freedom of the press," said the authoritative writer Karl Radek, "the proletariat enjoys this freedom only to the extent of his means for purchasing newspaper and paying the expenses of printing."

"Rights of the citizens of the Soviet Union," the constitution explains, "are insured by placing at the disposal of the toilers and their organizations printing presses, supplies of paper, public buildings, streets, means of communication and other necessary things."

Observers are asking whether the newspapers are to be free from official control. The Soviet idea of freedom is not understood to include toleration of anti-government speech-making and demonstrations.

Tomorrow: Communism Still Fulfills Goal, Soviet Says

5 Nations Meet In State Friday

Akron, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A ritual centuries old even before the white man came to America will open the assembly of the Council of the Five Nations on the Seneca Indian reservation near here tomorrow.

Joshua Jones, great high chief of the Iroquois Confederacy, will build a small fire in the center of the Long House. As the shadows dance on the wall he will declare the council assembled and recite to the chiefs the ancient admonition to "talk straight talk." If he decides their talk is not "straight" he will cover the fire and all talk will cease.

The oldest women of four of the tribes will sit on benches along the walls of the council house and listen. It is their right to vote or approve any legislation the men make, for the Indians gave their women suffrage long before the whites. The Senecas, however, adopted a constitution in 1847 depriving women of a voice in tribal affairs.

Whites are barred from the councils and only the chiefs know what will be discussed by the assembly.

Centuries ago the chiefs went to councils on moccasined feet and picked up their food from the wild life of the forests. Tomorrow they will come in automobiles, dressed in the clothes of the white man rather than buckskin, and bring their lunch in wicker baskets.

The Mohawks, who live in Canada and on the St. Regis reservation in this state, will be represented by Andrew Garlow, of the Senecas by their president, Heenan Scroggs, and Ernest Hill will talk for the Cayugas. The Oneidas will name a spokesman before the council meets.

Chief Jones, who comes from Syracuse, represents the Onondagas. He was elected by clan mothers and as the keeper of the fire is supreme among the once-mighty Iroquois. He is not only administrative chief of the tribes but the leader in their social and economic progress and pro-sever of their proud traditions.

The council last met two years ago when the Mohawks were readmitted to the nations legally after being separated socially and economically since the revolution.

Woodpecker Is Free

Ulster, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—An elusive little woodpecker which Frank B. Seaton claims "is slowly but surely picking my bones down," was free to continue his depredations today under the protection of the State Conservation Department. Conserved that the bird is a yellow-bellied sapsucker, a species less common than ordinary woodpeckers. Game Warden George Gaultier warned Seaton not to molest it. Seaton was told to calm what comfort he could from the fact that sapsuckers usually go south early in October.

Gain in State Jobs For August 66.9

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—A gain of 66.9 per cent last month in private industry jobs in New York state as compared with August, 1929, was reported by Industrial Commissioner Elmer F. Andrews today.

The report showed 13,630 additional men and women were given work last month, an increase of 269 jobs or 1.9 per cent over July.

In addition, 2,099 persons were placed in governmental service and public works jobs. This was an increase of 3.7 per cent over July but a decline of 58 per cent from August, 1935, due to the curtailment of PWA projects.

Andrews said applications for employment at state public employment offices declined 13.2 per cent from July and 76 per cent from August, 1935.

New York city officers registered 49.9 per cent of the new applicants and effected 49.1 per cent of the placements, exclusive of emergency work.

Andrews reported employment in 2,885 wholesale trade establishments rose 1.1 per cent in August with an accompanying rise of 1.6 per cent in payrolls.

Jewelry and optical goods wholesalers reported the greatest percentage increases among the wholesale shops.

In the far west the President advocated "spending money to save money in the long run," but there is some question as to whether the taxpayers can run so long.—Indianapolis News.

The Object of My Affection
I love each baby with a funny face;
That's just the kind I always want to hug.
One with a mouth that never stays in place,
Or nose that's undeniably a pug.
Or two round eyes that open very wide
And view the world with comic, serious stare,
Or ears that will push straight out at the side
Beneath a scrawny wisp or two of hair.

Sure, you may praise infants of charm and grace,
I'll join my voice with yours; and then I'll run
To find a baby with a funny face
And squeeze him hard—because I once was one.

Mr. Spendit—You have overdrawn my account $400. What do you mean by being so careless?
Mrs. Spendit—Well, the bank's advertisement showed that their resources are over $1,000,000.

Employee—I do, sir, but you don't realize how I am crowded for space.

You can always tell by this:

Seaman—Now that I've seen her in the daylight, I wonder myself.

I've been discharged from the hospital
With sundry organs gone,
And now it's my enfeebled purse
They're operating on.

"Yes," replied Bill, "I missed the train last year."

Proof of what safety education can accomplish is found in the magnificent record produced by safety instruction in the public schools. This work was started some fourteen years ago, and was inaugurated by the National Bureau of Casualty and Security Underwriters, representative of our leading casualty insurance companies. During those fourteen years, there has been a 106 per cent increase in traffic fatalities to adults—and a 2 per cent decrease in traffic fatalities to children of school age or under.

According to Mr. J. W. J. the trend in the case of children had been the same as in the case of adults, 32,000 some young lives would have been snuffed out.

BACK SEAT DRIVER TURNS UP MISSING

Park Visitor Faces Embarrassing Situation.

Yellowstone Park.—The gentleman from Indiana was visiting Yellowstone national park with his wife, a young son, and younger daughter. After touring the entire loop of the park in his private automobile, he found himself at 8:30 p. m. at Yellowstone canyon with 42 miles between him and his destination for that night at West Yellowstone, Montana, western gateway of the park.

Wife and daughter expressed themselves as desirous of a nap enroute the 42 miles between the two points. They bundled themselves well into blankets and pillows, while the father and son were to pilot the family car.

Less than a mile from the canyon the two male members of the party found something of interest along the roadway, stepped out of the car to explore, and returned to continue the journey with just a look at the pile of blankets in the rear seat to assure them that all was well with the women folks.

At the West Yellowstone gateway, the ranger politely stepped up with the routine question: "May I see your permit, please?"

The driver did not answer. Instead he took a quick glance to the rear seat, and exploded: "It can't be! This couldn't happen to me! It simply can't be!"

"May I see your permit, please?" pressed the ranger, unaware of any difficulty.

"It's simply not true," continued the driver without answering the ranger. "Nothing like this could happen to me. She's got the permit."

"If you'll pardon me, I don't understand," the ranger came back.

Then followed the tale of the missing daughter and mother who held the park entry permit. Telephone conversations between the ranger and another at Canyon solved the difficulty. Mother and daughter had awakened when the two in the front seat had gone out to explore. They, too, decided to look around; but did not get back in time to continue the journey.

"That gentleman doesn't know what a jewel of a wife he's got," is the way Frank Oberhansley, district ranger at West Yellowstone sums it up. "Any man who can drive 42 miles without knowing whether or not the backseat driver is with him ought to keep a close eye on his precious companion."

Land Planes Proposed to Link Pacific Isles

Honolulu.—Fast land planes, instead of heavier and slower seaplanes may be used on America's proposed new air route from Honolulu to New Zealand and Australia, according to William T. Miller, superintendent of airways of the Department of Commerce.

Miller said there were two specific reasons why land planes rather than sea planes might be used on the new 5,000-mile route to the Antipodes. These were:

The islands already have landing areas that could be used.

Water surrounding the islands is too rough for seaplanes to make a safe landing and tie up for refueling and inspection.

The government plans to level off the areas and prepare them for landing fields.

"Even in their present condition," Miller asserted, "I would not hesitate to land a plane on any one of the three islands. The possible landing fields are a mile long, facing directly into the prevailing winds, and are sufficiently wide for all purposes."

Cashes $1,000 Award for 28-Year-Old Deed

Laredo, Texas.—An investment in courage made twenty-eight years ago in saving a young woman from a runaway has been cashed by John W. Freeman, itinerant scissors grinder.

He has just claimed a $1,000 award made at the time of the rescue by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission and has bought an acreage and built a modest home.

The award was made after Freeman, at Fort Smith, Ark., grabbed the runaway horse before it could do much injury to Miss Johnnie Porter, seventeen-year-old daughter of a prominent business man, who was being dragged behind her overturned carriage. Freeman himself was stunned.

On the report of Fort Smith residents, the Carnegie Commission awarded him a hero medal and $1,000 but Freeman said:

"Gentlemen, I want you to keep that money and give it to me when I get older and need it."

It's a Pipe! Warden Solves His Problem

Columbus, Ohio.—Warden J. C. Woodward of the Ohio state penitentiary has a versatile "family."

A 176-foot standpipe needed repainting recently, and the warden thought outside aid would be needed. Before calling for help Woodward went through the inmates' personal records and found he had many laborers, including 100 steepjacks—solving the painting problem.

With such quantities of good fish in American waters, it is too bad that a taste for this natural food is not developed to the extent that it is in almost all other countries. Fish is very nutritious and supplies iodine, an element that is often lacking in the diet, particularly in the inland sections of the country.

Bell Sees Lean Year For Southwest Elevens

By WILLIAM T. RIVES.

Dallas (AP).—Southwestern football, after soaring to the pigskin big tops in 1935 on forward passes numbered in the hundreds, may find its wings clipped this fall.

The consensus of coaches hereabouts places the Southwest conference on the doubtful list so far as 1936 prominence on a national scale is concerned.

Most of the stars who pitched Southern Methodist's champions along a 12-game winning streak and into the Rose Bowl and those who won runner-up Texas Christian the nomination to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl are departed.

But while Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist, whose Mustangs lost to Stanford at Pasadena last New Year's Day, does not believe the Southwest will ring up great records again in intersection rivalry, Leo (Dutch) Meyer of Texas Christian's Sugar Bowl champions believes the record will be as good as 1935— "maybe better."

Power Attacks Loan.

The greatest team strength seems to lie among Texas Christian, Texas A. & M. and the University of Arkansas. Last year the headlines were Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Baylor and Rice Institute.

Beef and drive may replace the so-called razzle-dazzle style which turned the eyes of the nation's grid fans to the aerial routes over the Southwest a year ago.

However, sharpshooting Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian's slinging triple threat, and others give promise of making Texas forget about such greats as Rambling Robert Wilson, Southern Methodist's 1935 all-America halfback; Darrell Lester, Texas Christian's 2-time all-America center, and Truman Spain, S. M. U.'s great tackle, who won a second team all-America berth last fall.

Graduation, the observers believe, robbed Southern Methodist of any chance to repeat. Ten of S. M. U.'s starting eleven are gone, leaving only dependable Fullback Johnny Sprague. Seven others are classed as Texas Christian's Slingshot Sammy Baugh, a peerless punter, also is just about the only Grade-A passer left in the Southwest where pigskin flippers abounded last year.

The passing of the passers causes Coach Matty Bell of the Southwest champion Southern Methodist Mustangs to predict a lean year for that conference's warriors in intersection rivalry.

regulars also have departed the Mustang ranks.

Christians Look Best.

Texas Christian, on the other hand, retained a good supply of the team which was topped only by S. M. U., among them 16 lettermen, including the inimitable Baugh, 11 seasoned squad members and 21 sophomores.

A veteran is available for every Christian post, and therefore the Horned Frogs are called "the team to beat."

Texas A. & M., with but one 1935 regular absent, has its alumni all excited. Sophomores led by Backfield Ace Dick Todd, the Southwest's marked man despite the fact he never has played a conference game, round out a big aggressive Aggie squad.

Arkansas' triple threat, Jack Robbins, has several veteran helpers and a good yearling backing.

The University of Texas also has excellent material, especially behind the line.

Battles Is Leading Pro Ground Games

New York (AP).—Cliff Battles, Boston Redskins' ace ball-carrier, is the leading ground-gainer in the National Pro Football League, according to statistics released yesterday.

Battles has logged the leather 38 times, gaining 187 yards for an average of 4.9 yards per try. Swede Hanson of the Philadelphia Eagles isn't far behind with an average of 4.4 yards in 38 trips.

Ed Danowski of the New York Giants appears on his way to regaining forward passing honors won last year. He has completed 12 out of 21 passes for 110 yards. Battles is second with six out of 14 for 53 yards.

Six field goals have been booted in five games played through last Sunday. Hank Reese of the Eagles has kicked two to take the leadership in this department. Peculiarly enough three Smiths—Riley and Ed of Boston and Ernie of the Green Bay Packers—have kicked one apiece—the other was made by Ad Schwammel of the Packers.

A HEAVY DEMAND FOR SERIES SEATS REPORTED

Wheeling, W. V. (AP).—Parents of Mildred Joseph feared she had been kidnaped, and asked police aid. Then they received a telegram announcing her marriage to Samuel Daniels.

Braddock Allowed To Box in Tune-Ups, Freeman, Sparmate

New York (AP).—The New York State Athletic Commission yesterday gave Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock permission to engage in two or three tune up bouts prior to his postponed title go with Max Schmeling, probably next June.

Joe Gould, the champion's manager, said he would try to line up a few four and six-round no decision affairs, in which the title would not be involved, as soon as the arbitrators for which Braddock is being treated, permits him to resume training.

Dr. Fred Albee, Jimmy's physician, wrote the commission the heavyweight king will be ready for hard work in another two months. Permission for the tune-ups was granted on condition that Braddock post a $5,000 guarantee as evidence of his intention to accept Schmeling's challenge, already on file. Gould said this will be done at the commission's next meeting.

Freeman In Camp.

Jackie Filkins, lightweight from the West Point Calvary, after the bouts in Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie, Wednesday night, said Big Bill Freeman, ex-heavyweight champion of the New York National Guard had been granted a furlough from the army three weeks ago to go to Loch Sheldrake, Braddock's camp, as a sparring partner for the world's champ.

Duke, Louisiana State Look Strongest In Dixie

By KENNETH GREGORY

Atlanta (AP).—In Southern football this fall it's a clear-cut case of fear of the other fellow, thus leaving unanswered that perennial riddle: "Where does the power lie?"

By drawing a conclusion from a conglomeration of opinions, and granting the edge usually accorded a champion, one would nominate Duke's Blue Devils of the Southern Conference and Louisiana State's Tigers of the Southeastern circuit as logical choices to repeat.

On the other hand, observers point to the general uprising of former downtrodden teams and again come forward with the prediction of the most wide open race in years.

The doubtful viewpoint exists in both conferences. Six new members have been added to the Southern roster and no fewer than five teams, including the runner-up North Carolina Tar Heels, are rated potential threats. A half dozen or more elevens are considered improved enough to overhaul Louisiana State's dominance in the Southeastern.

"One team looks as good as another," says Bernie Moore, the track-football coach who piloted Louisiana State to its first championship in 27 years.

Eleven Teams Have Chance

"There are no fewer than 11 of the 13 schools which figure in the championship picture. I believe we will have a pretty good team, but you can't lose seven first-string men, including Mickel, Forthner, Rukas, Barrett and Helveston and not expect to be hurt plenty."

Duke is generally favored to repeat its title-winning performance in the Southern, with North Carolina, North Carolina State, Clemson, Maryland and Virginia Tech figuring in the running.

North Carolina, defeated only by Duke in 1935, was badly rattled by graduation when 11 lettermen departed. The Tar Heels rated eighth in the nation last season, but Raymond (Bear) Wolf, who succeeded Carl Snavely as head coach, faces a tough rebuilding task.

Hunk Anderson was greeted by the return of 27 lettermen at North Carolina State and the outlook is brightest since he moved there from Notre Dame. Maryland's crack backfield returns intact and the other squads have veterans available for every position. Virginia Military and South Carolina had outstanding undefeated freshman teams and if these players click with the varsity they should finish well up near the top.

The second-guessers draw the conclusion that the Southeastern schedule is so arranged that no single club will finish the season with an unblemished record. Auburn, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, Georgia Tech, Mississippi, Georgia and Mississippi State are ranked as threats for the 1936 title.

Schedule May Decide Champion

"It seems to me," says Maj. Ralph Sasse, coach of the Mississippi State Maroons, "that the champion of the Southeastern may not be the best team in our group, principally because of the great difference in comparative strength of schedules."

"For example, Auburn faces Tulane, Tennessee, Georgia, Georgia Tech and Louisiana State. Coupled with terrific road travel, including visiting dates with Detroit and Santa Clara, this will not permit them to remain at a peak throughout the season."

"One might also place Louisiana State in the same category. Accordingly, based upon schedule rather than actual strength, it seems to me that Kentucky has a splendid chance to be declared the actual conference champion."

"While I believe that it is customary for a head coach to be pessimistic, nevertheless, upon facing the facts, it is my feeling that Mississippi State will cause more than one team sufficient trouble this year."

CLARENCE BADGETT
Duke's Blue Devils have an edge on the other Southern Conference teams and Clarence Badgett, Blue Devil giant, seems to have an edge on other Southern Conference tackles.

WINGBACKS

by TINY THORNHILL

Wingback formations, which are the basis for practically all of Stanford's offensive plays, trace their origin to the days of the Carlisle Indians in the early 1900's.

Glenn S. Hober, a young coach with a lot of revolutionary ideas, came out on the season with the Carlisle tandem.

It not only surprised rival coaches but it virtually janked the old T formation, in which the backs lined up behind a balanced line standing shoulder-to-shoulder behind the quarterback.

Warner's tandem operated behind an unbalanced line, forming an acute angle with the close-up back directly behind the right end. This tandem was the great weapon of the single wingback.

Later on it was modified so that the close-up back flanked the right end. The other three backs were moved up closer to the line of scrimmage but each was at a 45-degree angle to the other.

Giants Sew Up the National Race, Edging Out the Phillies by 5-4

(By The Associated Press)

The Giants can't miss now. After stalling it off as long as possible, they finally got in a position to sew up the National League flag. Simply by calling on Carl Hubbell to demonstrate once again that he's the experts' biggest "headache" this season.

One win for Bill Terry's Terriers, or a loss for the second place Cardinals will wind up the pennant chase. Even if they lost all their remaining five games, and the Cards take the rest of their schedule, the Giants are assured of a tie.

The Giants took their commanding spot yesterday with a 5-4 win over the troublesome Phillies.

It was just another demonstration of how Hubbell has showed up the "wise boys" this season. They said, before the season started, that he was on the way down, that he'd never reach the pitching heights again.

So he proceeded to give a performance that stamps him as one of the greatest of all time. His victory yesterday, his 26th of the year, gave him a string of 16 straight, the longest winning run in the majors since Schoolboy Rowe pitched the Tigers into the American League pennant two years ago.

Cubs Eliminated

One of the two challengers for the Giants' victory march, the 1935 champion Chicago Cubs, was eliminated in yesterday's program, as the Pirates came through to take a 7-5 winning win, largely through Red Lucas' relief pitching.

But the Pirates' Paul Waner was unable to hold his lead, slipping out by less than one percentage point, as Babe Phelps, the Dodgers' sturdy catcher, took over, 3737 to 3734.

Phelps had three hits, leading the Dodgers to an 8-6 win over the Boston Bees as Van Mungo pitched his 17th victory of the season. The Cards and Reds were rained out.

The Yankees won their 100th victory of the season, walloping the Athletics 12 to 5.

The Senators took over third place in the American League, nosing out the Red Sox 8-2 with a two run rally in the ninth. The White Sox split with the Indians, Bob Feller fanning ten to hurl a 17-2 Cleveland win in the opener, and Luke Appling belting a homer to help the White Sox take the nightcap, 8-3, in six innings, when darkness called a halt.

The Browns landed on Schoolboy Rowe with a six-run opening inning, and clubbed the Tigers 10-1, ending a nine-game win streak.

The Series Outlook Reminiscent Of Battle Fought on Harlem in '23

New York, Sept. 24 (AP).—The year from the Pittsburgh Pirates, re-peated against the Cardinals in 1928. The 1932 Yankees under McCarthy walloped the Chicago Cubs four straight.

American League experience against Hubbell has offered nothing to bolster hopes of subjecting him to any indignities. The screwball southpaw beat the Washington Senators twice in the 1933 series. Still memorable is his exploit of fanning

Ruth, Gehrig, Fox, Simmons, and Cronin in succession. In the 1934

All-Star game at the Polo Grounds.

Then, as now, it was "brains versus brawn," the power in Yankee bats will be pitted against the resources of the best defensive club in big league baseball.

Instead of the battle of wits between the master mind, John Joseph

McGraw, and the greatest of all sluggers, Babe Ruth, this year's affray finds a pupil of the old master,

William Harold Terry, devising strategy to meet the slugging ensemble led by Larruping Lou Gehrig,

the new home run king.

Terry and his infield mate, Travis

Calvin Jackson, were just two young fellows being ripened for regular duty in the last "subway series."

Jackson pinch-hit against Herb Pen-nock one afternoon but otherwise he and Terry were just so much background in a series that saw Ruth and company blast their way to triumph

after successive setbacks in 1921-22.

Home Run Strategy

The shift in playing cases has not been accompanied, however, by much alteration in rival methods. The Yankees, with Joe McCarthy directing maneuvers from the bench as the late Miller Huggins did, still operate on the theory that a home run is the best strategy. They have broken all records for circuit clouting this year with Gehrig setting the pace.

The Giants, still play "McGraw baseball," aim for the breaks, feature a tight defense, and rely upon the resources of a pitching staff headed by the great Carl Hubbell.

It remains to be seen whether one great moundsman can carry the Giants to victory in the World Series.

Except for the veteran knuckle-baller, Freddy Fitzsimmons, the National Leaguers have no other pitcher who now appears capable of giving the celebrated exponent of the screwball much support.

Giants Picked For First

The presence of Hubbell in the box, however, will make the Giants favorites for the opener next Wednesday at the Polo Grounds. If he measures up to expectations, the occasional also may see the end of the Yankee winning streak in World

Series competition.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert's riflemen

have not been stopped since 1926,

the year the Yankees dropped the verdict to Grover Cleveland Alexander and the St. Louis Cardinals in the seventh game.

They won four straight the next year from the Pittsburgh Pirates, repeated against the Cardinals in 1928.

The 1932 Yankees under McCarthy

Kias Believes in Lots of Scrimmage In Practice Drills

In keeping with his newly-formed policy of "a scrimmage a day keeps defeat away," Coach G. Warren Kias sent his football warriors through third successive setto yesterday afternoon at the Athletic Field. While the "A" group was running through an extended signal practice drill, the reserves got together in another of their typical struggles. The contestants on yesterday's program were "B" and "D" units under the tutelage of Asst. Coaches Fuller and Anderson. Following the example of the assistant mentors, who put on a great show of intense rivalry, the teams enacted a brisk pigskin drama.

"Red" Leahy, alternate right end,

set the onlookers back on their heels

by intercepting a short pass and,

after feinting the safety man, out-

galloped the secondary for approximately fifty yards to tally the first touchdown of the day for the "D"

combine. The flaming red-head's run was the longest hike of the season to date. Jack Cook bucked over for the seventh point. Seemingly inspired by the score, Anderson's boys put up a stubborn struggle but it was too good to last. Near the end of the fray, Troy of the "Bees"

took a flat pass from Ashdown and wriggled loose for a ten yard account to register. Holstein cracked through tackle for the tying tally.

In the earlier stages of the afternoon's session, Coach Kias put the tackles and ends through a punt-

covering act, giving both line-men and backfield a chance to brush up on down-field tackling and brokenfield running. Incidentally, Rif-ebary got off some capable boots to cause another mild surprise in the kicking department.

Defends Right of Government for Proper Safeguards

Ernest G. Draper, assistant secretary of commerce, in a speech today defended the right of the federal government "to set up proper safeguards in the interest of 'public needs.'"

"I do not say 'to enter business itself,'" he told members of the Kiwanis Club. "Nor do I advocate it," he added, "except perhaps in special cases where the situation is so desperate as to demand government intervention to avert complete breakdown or to prevent wholesale gouging of the public."

"We must be free to lead the American way of life in an appealing phrase," Draper said. "It carries with it an implied yearning for the dear, dead days of years ago when life was simple and our burdens were light."

"If, instead of talking generalities, we become specific," he continued, "we discover immediately that the 'American way of life' extending back over a period of more than a half century has been to demand more and more, instead of less and less intervention by government in the daily affairs of life."

The assistant commerce secretary cited building codes and traffic signal regulations as "homely illustrations in order to point out that as life becomes more complex it is inevitable that we must meet these complexities with increasing safeguards so that individuals may, within the framework of an orderly existence be free and not less free."

"Otherwise," Draper said, "confusion and chaos will be the inevitable result."

"The American way of life," he concluded, "is not to return to the horse and buggy and sit and wait until the horse dies of old age. The American way is to progress, and to meet the increasing demands of modern society with constantly improving means of protecting for all. Only by these methods can we proudly call ourselves free Americans in the highest sense of the word."

Action Is Predicted

Peiping, Sept. 24 (AP)—Armed Japanese action against China was predicted today by Maj. Gen. Takayoshi Matsumuro, chief of the Japanese military mission at Peiping. "China is a bad boy needing coercion following the failure of more gentle methods," commented Matsumuro. "If he doesn't listen to Japan's peaceful lessons, he is likely to have his face slapped. Japan is determined to bring peace and order to China, if not in its entirety at least to North China."

F. C. Munson Dies

Port Chester, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Frank C. Munson, 60, president of the Munson Steamship Line, died today in United Hospital of internal injuries following the crash of his car into a lighting pole in Rye early yesterday. Munson, who lived in Byram Shore, East Port Chester, Conn., was returning home when the car he was driving in Midland avenue went out of control in an unexplained manner and struck a lighting pole. He was alone and the police report said he fell asleep at the wheel.

The Dry Tortugas

The Dry Tortugas are a series of islets, ten in number, at the extreme end of the Florida Keys, and extending some distance into the Gulf of Mexico. They form part of a county of Florida, and are low, barren and desolate, except where partly covered with mangrove bushes. The islets are of coral formation, and are defended by fortifications. On Bush or Garden Key is Fort Jefferson, and a lighthouse. During the Civil war the port was used as a penal station for rebel prisoners.

Indians Cruel to Dogs

The burning of a white dog was an annual religious festival of the Indian tribes of Ohio. After a pure white dog was found, his legs were tied together so that he could be hung onto a pole that stretched between two forked posts stuck in the ground. Underneath the dog was built a fire, and while the redskins yelled and danced around the primitive altar, the animal would be lowered to and then raised from the blaze. It was slowly tortured until life was gone.

Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," once served as a diplomat to settle Indian troubles in Alabama.

Chandler Young's Landon Sign Draws Widespread Interest

The huge Landon sign, made of sunflowers, on the Young farm near Napanoch and which has increasingly been an object of interest to travelers up and down the Rondout Valley as the flowers began to unfold, has drawn the attention of a Tribune-Herald photographer and that paper this morning printed a large picture of the unique sign and also another showing a man standing by one of the plants to give an idea of their height.

The sign, which spells out the word "Landon," is 550 feet in length, the letters standing 167 feet in height. The sunflowers were planted rather late, in a large cornfield, and while the letters have been plainly discernible for weeks they now stand out in added prominence as the flowers appear and their outlines are marked in gold.

They were planted by G. Chandler Young and the laying out of the letters represented an immense amount of work by Mr. Young, who was ably and enthusiastically assisted by his wife.

Mr. Young comes honestly by his Republican tendencies, on both sides of the family. His father was Chester Young, former Republican supervisor of the town of Wawarsing, and at the time of his death treasurer of the Dairymen's League. His grandfather, George Young, was a lifelong and active Republican and a former sheriff of Ulster county. He is also a grandson of the late Major Dwight Divine of Ellenville, an old life prominent and influential in Republican councils, as was his family before him and as are his children, a daughter, Dr. Alice Divine of Ellenville, being a prominent leader among the Republican women of the town of Wawarsing.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Sept. 24—Members of the Priscilla Society are requested to meet in the church house at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon to prepare the supper which will be served to members of the church congregation at 6:30 that evening. The penny jars are to be brought in at this time.

A clam chowder sale under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will be held in the church house at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

A "get-together" social will be held in the Reformed Church hall at 8 o'clock this evening when the turkey coin cards are to be turned in.

THREE CHAMBERS STREET PEOPLE GET JAIL SENTENCES

Following an investigation by Deputy Sheriffs McCullough and Pierce, William Haskett, 34, and Clarence Van Demark, 27, negroes from 69 Chambers street, Kingston, were arraigned before Justice John Watkins at East Kingston Wednesday on charges of petit larceny. Haskett was committed to the Ulster county jail, to serve 25 days and Van Demark was given a suspended sentence of six months.

Connected with the same case was the arrest of Delaphine McBee, 25, also of 69 Chambers street, who was arraigned before Justice Watkins on a contempt of court charge in failing to answer a summons to appear at the hearing of Haskett and Van Demark. She was committed to the county jail for five days.

Al Jones, East Kingston negro, was the complainant in the case against Haskett and Van Demark, charging that they had stolen some of his personal effects.

BIG ADVERTISING PROGRAM TO PUT PEOPLE IN UNIFORMS

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—There's a plan afoot, backed by a $5,000,000 advertising program, to put millions of citizens in uniform by the end of 1937.

But peace-loving Americans need not be alarmed.

Lee Matthey, president of the Linen Supply Association, explained the plan today. Its purpose is to promote the use of what he calls "functional garments."

The tenth of a billion dollar gross business in the industry, Matthey said, is done annually by over 1,500 firms renting towels, linens and uniforms for nearly every occupation.

The association's executive committee, in session here, revealed the industry had regained all but 10 per cent of the peak volume experienced in 1925.

Newspapers will be used for a large part of the advertising.

Demopsey to Tour

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—With a herd of the very best grout and groan men in the wrestling industry tumbling about as a side attraction, Jack Demopsey will swing back into politics as a presidential orator October 3 starting a three week tour of New York state. It's never been done before except on a musical comedy stage. Jack Carley, who has unlimited athletes at his disposal, will provide the wrestling talent and Demopsey the oratory on behalf of President Roosevelt and Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

King in Scotland

Aberdeen, Scotland, Sept. 24 (AP)—Zouffal King Edward VIII resumed the Scottish highlands today like a feudal lord. He came and went when, where and how he pleased, having cast off the fetters of royal pomp and tradition for his three-week holiday at Balmoral Castle. Edward, it was said, had swept aside "the last vestiges of Victorianism" in his high retreat.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE E. JACOBSON

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—Nervousness over foreign affairs handicapped today's stock market.

A revival of fears over the French fiscal position, including possible devaluation of the franc, kept many traders on the sidelines and inspired profit taking in most sections of the list.

The French franc, apparently with official support, held about even near the gold shipping point. Sterling and other gold currencies were off in terms of the dollar. French loans dropped in the bond market.

Louisville & Nashville shares got up more than two points and lesser improvement was registered by Libby-Owens, National Department Stores, U. S. Smelting, Delaware & Hudson, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, American Locomotive, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber and Dome Mines.

Down around a point were Eastman Kodak, American Sugar Refining, Johns-Manville and General Electric.

In a narrow range, mostly lower, were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, du Pont, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, North American, Douglas Aircraft, National Distillers, Deere and International Harvester.

MARKETS FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

New York, Sept. 24 (AP)—(Statute Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Supplies of most kinds of produce from New York and adjacent states were fairly liberal on the downtown wholesale district today. The demand and trading as a whole was rather light. Prices ranged widely due to the wide range in quality and condition of most commodities. The market was stronger for fancy beans. On the other hand declines were registered for lima beans, cauliflower and cabbage. Price changes on most other kinds of fresh fruits and vegetables were few and small.

New York upstate fine quality Bountiful and wax beans wholesaled at 1.25-1.75 per bushel and red cranberry, 1.25-1.50.

Catskill Mt. cauliflower met a less active demand and most of the No. 1 stock sold from 1.25-1.75 per crate.

Western N. Y. celery supplies were moderate to fairly liberal. Offerings in the rough sold at 1.00-1.25 per 2-3 crate for the best. Washed stock in California style crates ranged from 75-1.50, mainly 1.00-1.25.

The cucumber market was steady. Fancy grade 1.00-1.25 per bushel basket, poorer 60-75. Dills 1.25-1.50 and pickles 1.50-1.75 for the best.

Big Boston lettuce prices averaged slightly. Crates of 2 dozen heads, 1.00-1.50, some attractive quality 1.75-1.87 1/2 and poorer 50-75. Romaine, 75-1.00, some fine quality, 1.25-1.50 and poorer, 25-50.

Elberta peach receipts from the western part of the state were moderate. The market was steady for attractive quality, but dull and slightly weaker for fair to ordinary.

Bushel baskets of No. 1, 2 inch minimum and upward sold from 2.00-2.75, mainly 2.25-2.50.

"Slow Gas" Poison New Health Peril

Chicago, Sept. 24 (AP).—Science found a new health peril in the machine age civilization today. "Slow gas" poison.

Unseen and undetectable, said a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the gas asphyxiates people slowly but surely over a long period of time. It was described as a hitherto unrecognized form of carbon monoxide death.

Carbon monoxide in large doses has long been known as a producer of sudden, painless death. Motorists who sit in their garages with car motors running are frequent victims.

The smaller doses of the gas, inhaled consistently over long periods, are as lethal as concentrated larger ones. It was announced in the Journal by Dr. Harvey G. Beck, of Baltimore, Md.

The report was based, Dr. Beck said, on "critical study" of 79 patients who were "repeatedly subjected to sublethal doses of carbon monoxide at varying intervals over prolonged periods."

The doctor said he learned that when the atmosphere contained a hundredth of a per cent or less of the monoxide, it could be breathed indefinitely without danger. A mixture of five-hundredths of a per cent was able to cause symptoms of poisoning within several hours, and one-tenth to two-tenths of a per cent brought "severe symptoms dangerous to life." One per cent was sure death.

Dr. Beck described the slow poisoning as "chronic carbon monoxide anoxemia." His 79 test patients, he said, were exposed to it from combustion of natural gas and illuminating gas, from gasoline engines, blast furnaces and coke ovens.

LEGION RACE NARROWED

The race for election as next national commander of the American Legion narrowed to two contestants—Quinby Melton (left), of Griffin, Ga., and Harry W. Colmery, of Topeka, Kas. Colmery's supporters claimed a majority of the vote. (Associated Press Photo)

Altadena, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP).—William J. Pringle, Jr., executive of an advertising agency, was the father of twins today—and $5,000 richer because of them.

Pringle paid Lloyds $200 for an insurance policy taken out seven months ago against such an eventuality.

The government might raise considerable money, too, from a poll tax on political candidates.

Human Hair Strains Oil;

Other Kinds Also Useful

Human hair, able to withstand a pressure of six tons per square inch, has an important place in American industry, declares a writer in the Washington Star.

Practically all the cottonseed oil used for culinary purposes is strained through press cloth made of hair.

In the cottonseed oil mills a measured quantity of cooked cottonseed is wrapped in a strip of hair cloth and placed in a machine, called a "cake former," where it is slightly compressed to make a compact mass. The cake, still covered with the cloth, is then removed to an hydraulic press, which squeezes the oil through the cloth. The product is piped into a settling tank and sent to a refinery.

The use of hair cloth for wrapping materials from which oil is to be extracted by pressure comes down from olden times. For many years, long-fibered goat hair and wool were used. Afterward, European manufacturers learned that the Asiatic camel hair was better on account of its length and stretching qualities and adapted it. The camel's hair cloth was the first press cloth used in the United States. In 1908 the Boxer Rebellion in China almost cut off the supply of raw material, and manufacturers were compelled to resort to goat hair, llama hair, cow tails, horse tails, cotton, and, finally, human hair.

The Oriental disturbances which cut off the supply of camel hair provided a source of almost unlimited supply of raw material for the manufacture of the new type of press cloth. After overthrowing the Manchu dynasty, the Chinese proclaimed their new-found liberty by cutting off their queues.

Cornelius Murkens, pastor of the Reformed Church of Gardiner. Miss Blanche Guinan, a school friend of the bride, played a short prelude before the ceremony and the Lutheran service. The setting for the marriage service was the gateway of an old fashioned garden and the balustrades of the stairway as well as the reception rooms throughout were brightened with autumn garden flowers, the decorations being in charge of R. M. Hasbrouck of New Paltz. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, molded on princess lines, with a long court train. Italian imported lace formed the yoke at the neck and the puff of the sleeves, and set off the panels of the train. The long fitted sleeves ended in a point over the wrist. Her cap shaped tulle veil was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms and fell in long lines beyond the train of the dress. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lily of the valley and baby's breath. Her sister, Miss Freda Margaret Dolson, who acted as maid of honor, was her only attendant. All members of the Eastern Star and Masonic fraternity are invited to attend the meeting at the church.

COUNTY OFFICIALS TO ATTEND DEWITT FUNERAL

County officials, including many past officials and members of the board of supervisors, will meet at the court house at 2:30 p. m. Friday to attend in a body the funeral of Henry R. DeWitt, for many years the popular clerk of the board. The funeral will be held at the parson of A. Carr & Son at 3 p. m.

Miss Mary Crosby Died Here Today

Early this morning, Miss Mary Crosby, youngest daughter of the late Edward Crosby and Caroline Crawford Crosby, his wife, died at her home on Fair street, and in her death, this community has suffered an irreparable loss which is to be mitigated only by the memory of this fine, Christian woman and her helpful life.

Miss Crosby, who was born in the home in which she died, after months of acute suffering most patiently and cheerfully endured, came of a long line of the highest type of Christian Americanism. Her mother was the daughter of Jacob Crawford whose father was the Rev. John M. D. Crosby who was an outstanding leader in the Methodist Church of his day which went back to the latter part of the 18th century. Edward Crosby her father, who for years was one of the very highly regarded business men of this community, was the son of Benjamin Crosby, of the same period whose ancestry was rooted in England.

With such a background Miss Mary Crosby found her place in the life of the community in which she lived and had a wide circle of friends, especially in the activities of the church to which she gave her loyalty early in life when she joined the Fair Street Reformed Church. Having first a class of boys in the Sunday School—now men who still think of her with affection and pride. Miss Crosby later taught a class of young women, and was their loved and honored teacher at the time of her death, being the teacher who had taught in her church the longest of any of the teachers now living. Her interest, however, reached far wider than her own church. Following the death of her mother, who was a charter member of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church and its treasurer, Miss Mary Crosby was made treasurer, a post which she held with exceptional ability until a few weeks before her death when she was obliged to give up with profound regret the task to which she had been so devoted.

stationary Society of this country, which was observed in this city, will remember that Miss Crosby was the very capable and interesting secretary of that organization.

Miss Crosby was a graduate of old Kingston Academy, Class of '88, and never lost her interest in the educational life of this community. A woman of culture and wide reading, she was keenly interested in travel which she greatly enjoyed and through which her circle of friends widened greatly.

With all this, the one characteristic of Miss Mary Crosby, which shone like sunshine through all of her activities and interest in helping to make happy the lives of others, was her deep, abiding and strong faith in God.

She is survived by three sisters, Miss Elizabeth H. Crosby, Miss Caroline V. O. Crosby and Miss Jennie K. Crosby, to whom in their time of bereavement goes forth the sincere sympathy of the entire community. The funeral will take place on Saturday at 2:30 o'clock at the Crosby home, No. 209 Fair street, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley officiating.

The burial will be private.

CHARGED WITH LEAVING SCENE OF AN ACCIDENT

Francesco Sansone, 20, of Brooklyn, was arrested today by Saugerties police and arraigned before Justice Charles K. Bennett of Saugerties on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident. In default of $100 bail he was committed to the Ulster county jail to await a hearing on Tuesday.

Remains Critically Ill

Mrs. Sylvia Marcus remains seriously ill at her home, 63 Hasbrouck avenue, as her husband, Samuel, friends and two physicians, Dr. William S. Bush and Dr. M. B. Downer, hope for a blood donor, who has recovered from streptococcus viridans, to turn up. She is weak, despite a recent transfusion given by Joseph A. Bradley of this city to bolster her strength.

'Center Suspension' System of Lights

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—The state traffic commission had adopted the "center suspension," three color type of traffic signal as standard equipment for all future installations on highways outside of cities and incorporated villages.

Use of this type with its red, yellow and green signals, automatically became compulsory by the commission's action yesterday. The commission explained that the possibility of motorists failing to see it would be much less than under the present practice of placing lights in various locations.

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett said he felt that cities and incorporated villages would follow out the commission's choice in future installations or replacements although its use by them is not obligatory.

SKUNK IN CELLAR IS SHOT BY OFFICER RELEYEA

Mrs. L. A. Olsen of 20 Ora Place called up the police department on Wednesday and said that there was some strange animal in the cellar of her home and asked assistance in ridding the cellar of the unwelcome intruder. Officer Releyea was assigned to the case. As he opened the cellar door he immediately knew that the intruder was a skunk and he drew his gun and proceeded cautiously down the stairs. He saw the skunk in one corner of the cellar and with a well directed shot ended his career.

Frank Views About Bankers and Public Are Revealed Today

San Francisco, Sept. 24 (AP)—Frank views of two surveys—one on what 7,400 bankers think of the public; the other on what 50,000 sample citizens think of the bankers—were made public today at the American Bankers Association convention.

Clarence Francis of New York, president of General Foods Corporation, conducted the surveys in preparing for his address in which he asserted banks are failing to assume their full place of economic and moral leadership.

He suggested they finance the rebuilding of the country and lead the way to a higher living standard.

The 7,400 bankers—"From the cornfields to the metropolis"—viewed thus:

Fifty-eight out of a hundred thought the public friendly to them, a fourth thought the public indifferent, and 11 per cent said "not friendly."

Some reasons—Losses in closed banks, adverse propaganda, "hunting a goat," and "dislike of people you owe."

One fourth felt their customers do not understand "why it is necessary to make service charges on unprofitable accounts."

"Many bankers," the industrialist told the convention, "reported the insuring of deposits has made their depositors feel secure."

Banking Legislation

Banking and monetary legislation, 67 per cent of those questioned replied, has increased long-run security of depositors and stockholders; 18 per cent said it had lessened security.

More than half said installment buying helped bring on the 1929 financial collapse.

Views of the public, tabulated from 50,000 sample citizens, indicated:

Forty seven per cent believed it more necessary to save for old age than in their father's day; 45 per cent believed it as necessary and only 5 per cent believed it less necessary.

Eighty-seven per cent use the banks. Fifty-seven out of 100 considered the banks not doing their share of recovery.

Asked to name the man in public life with whose views they agreed on money matters, the first four were:

"President Roosevelt, Father Coughlin, Senator Glass and Governor Landou—In that order."

"Trailing the leaders were Herbert Hoover, Henry Ford, Congressman Lemke, Dr. Townsend, Senator Borah, Norman Thomas and Ogden Mills."

"I think it lamentable that no banker or bankers stood out conspicuously," Francis said.

Enzymes Mystery Solved at Yale, Proved a Chemical

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 24 (AP)—Yale University today solved the mystery of enzymes, invisible things which keep man's tissues alive, by showing one of them at work for the first time. The enzyme revealed itself as a mere chemical, as prosaic in action as soap in water. For many years scientists suspected that enzymes were alive.

The discovery was announced in a Yale University news statement. The enzyme action was made visible by Dr. Kurt G. Stern, visiting lecturer in physiological chemistry.

He used the enzyme catalase. This is a red-colored protein, plentiful in the liver, but also distributed in small amounts through every cell in the body.

He used a spectroscope to see the catalase in action in a transparent solution. A photo-electric tube recorded the speed of the chemical action of the enzyme exactly the same as an electro-cardiograph records the beating of an invisible heart.

The catalase could be seen changing hydrogen peroxide into water and into gaseous oxygen. Although some steps in the transformation were too rapid for the eye, the photo-electric tube recorded them in fifths of a second.

Dr. Stern also watched other chemical changes as they were made, step by step, by the enzyme. All these changes were observed in a test tube.

The next step is to place in the tube the chemical which the enzyme uses in the living body, and look at a life process enacted visibly under glass.

Catalase was discovered in 1909 by O. Loew, a government chemist. He named the discovery after the common industrial process which uses "catalysts" to produce chemical reactions. Dr. Stern's test tubes indicate the name was well chosen, and that catalase is essentially no different in action from the catalysts in the great chemical vats.

Dr. Stern also showed catalase is made of two parts. One is hemin, the red coloring substance of blood. The other is a protein.

C. B. Will Escape Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP)—Weather Bureau observers said the coast of the United States would escape any effects of a small tropical hurricane moving north northeasterly through the Atlantic ocean today. Central last night about 200 miles northwest of Bermuda, the storm still was far south of the trans-Atlantic steamship lanes. The storm passed about 150 miles to the west of Bermuda and the islands experi-
